New Fads At Sam Sweep '80's

As Sam Houston's nineteenth year came to a close, students and faculty looked back on the changes they had witnessed and the activities in which they had participated.

The preppy look was one of the most popular fads with an Izod or a pair of topsiders in every direction. Strange hair styles and headbands symbolized the punk look which quickly gained followers.

All types of shoes changed appearance with the addition of a pair of flashy shoelaces. A variety of designs could be found on the strings including stars, hearts, rainbows, and even preppy alligators.

Even though Sam's enrollment was declining, its spirit was still rising. To show their enthusiasm, students enjoyed a UTA football game and won a spirit trophy for the highest attendance of all four high schools.

Snow, TV, Martin Top Ratings

Activities, fads, and news scoops hit the top of the ratings in the metroplex area during '81-'82.

The completion of Arlington's fifth high school, James Martin, created quite a bit of talk around the town. The new school was built to accommodate the growing population in the southwest part of the city and was scheduled to open in the fall of 1982.

During January, students received an unexpected two and one-half day holiday as all schools and most businesses in the area were closed. Harsh weather conditions forced Lone Star Gas Company to curtail its distribution to larger users in order to better heat the homes.

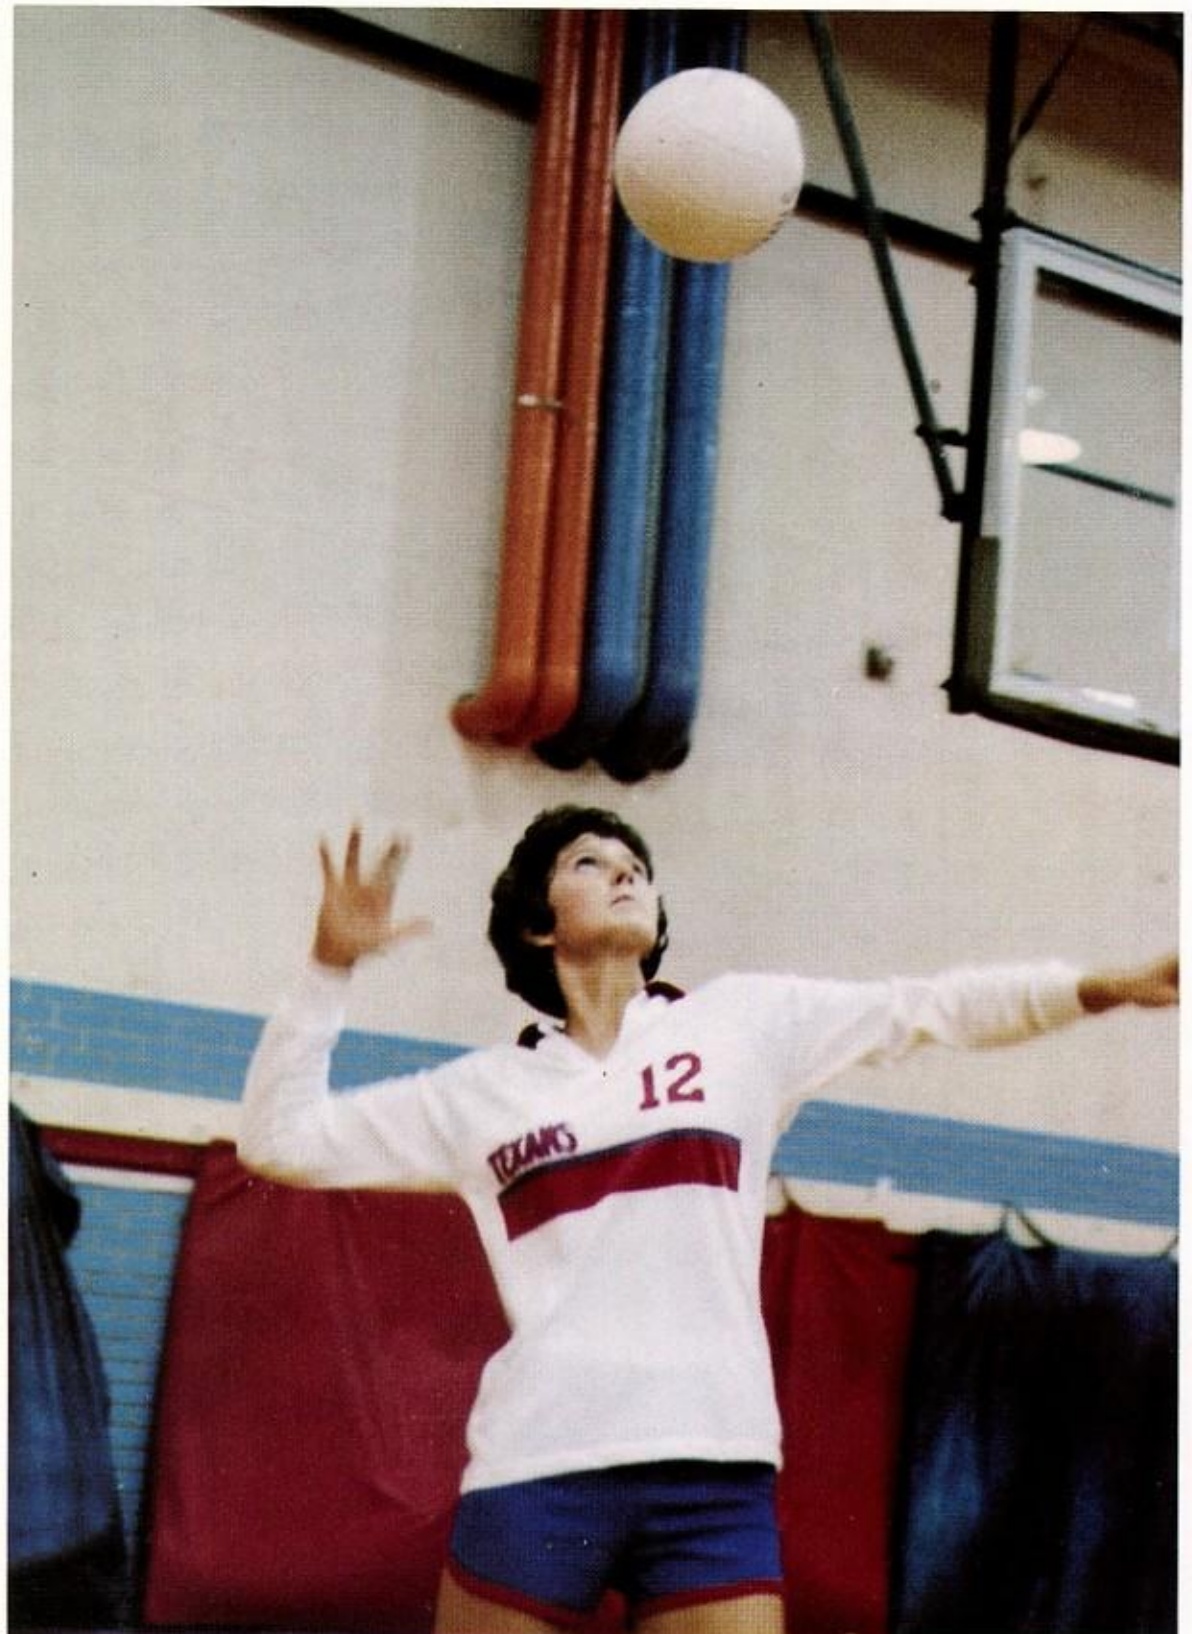

As usual, going to a movie was a favorite in the entertainment field, but a new investment sweeping the metroplex kept people home more often. Pay television, such as On-TV, Veu, Preview, and cable recently became an addition to many homes.

Cherokee Recognizes Special VP

The Cherokee staff presented the 1982 year-book dedication to Vice-Principal G. A. Glenn during the May 5 awards assembly. His devotion, involvement, and outstanding leadership in the school contributed to the selection.

George Andrew Glenn, named after his two grandfathers, was reared in Dallas. During his high school years he was a fullback for the Samuel High School football team. On a two year scholarship, Mr. Glenn attended Southern Methodist University and then graduated from East Texas State. He has earned both a bachelor's and master's degree.

After coaching football for 20 years, Mr. Glenn took a position as a vice-principal here at Sam Houston, where he has remained for the past 10 years. He now heads up the activity schedule and UIL competition and has recently served as the principal of summer school.

The long time Student Congress sponsor is very popular around school because he is always willing to lend a hand in a project. He is also well known with students for his ability to talk to them as adults instead of "kids."

Because of his great concern for the students and activities of Sam Houston, we dedicate this 1982 Cherokee to Mr. G. A. Glenn.

World News Hits Home For Texans

As always, world news was very important, but recently it seemed to be hitting near home and deep in the hearts of Texans.

The release of the American hostages from their Iranian captivity, which was very touching in 1981, was brought back into the news as many celebrated their one-year anniversary of freedom.

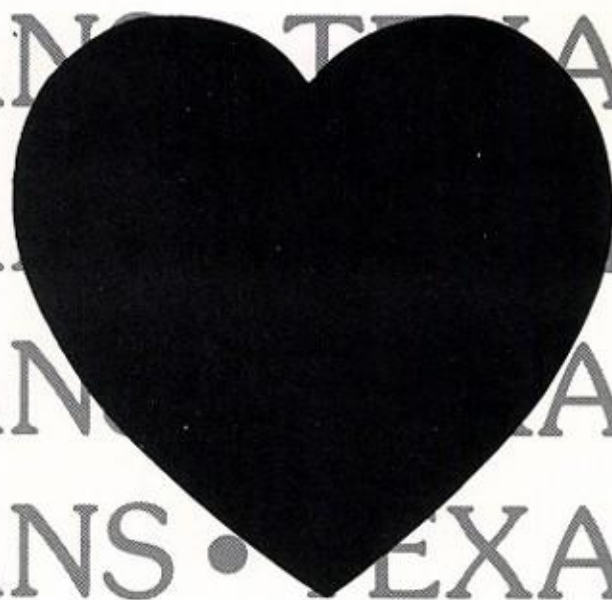

Topping the list with a "first," Sandra O'Connor was appointed as the country's only female Supreme Court Justice. While ERA threatened failure, another battle raged between creationists and evolutionists. A federal judge in Arkansas temporarily settled the debate about teachings in school. He threw out the law that required evolution and creation theories to be taught together because it was in violation of separation of church and state.

Americans were caught up in a royal wedding when England's Prince Charles took a bride, Lady Diana. Just three months after the marriage, the world learned of a royal baby on its way.

Everyone was concerned with the many tragedies that plagued the world. Among these were the assassination attempts on the lives of President Ronald Reagan and Pope John Paul II. Greatest sympathy was expressed toward Egypt and the family of Anwar Sadat after his tragic death in the fall.

(A-C) Principal B.H. Remynse motivates the crowd to revenge his old alma mater and "kick a Colt!" (D) Sam Houston faculty awaits the outcome of the noble effort to win the spirit stick. (E) A student practices CPR methods during health class. (F) Classmates team up to finish a biology lab.

As the fourth week of school rolled around, students became anxious as to when Howdy Day would be. The morning of Sept. 2 started out as usual with people making their way to class. During first period Mr. Orvie Sides, the head custodian, was called to the front office. Unknown to most of the student body, this was the signal for sheriffs to deliver Howdy Day supplies to classes.

Upperclassmen had their day as they ordered the new "mickies" to sing the fight song. Juniors were out for revenge on the sophomores, only to have a senior step in and prove who was boss. Of course, faculty members had jurisdiction over all students, and occasionally a senior was caught to his surprise.

The mouse ears were put in the courtyard, so more students could see the symbol of sophomores becoming real Sam Houston Texans.

Students Live Up Weekends

B]

Students found that there was more to life than just going to school and doing homework. Everyone lived for those Friday and Saturday nights.

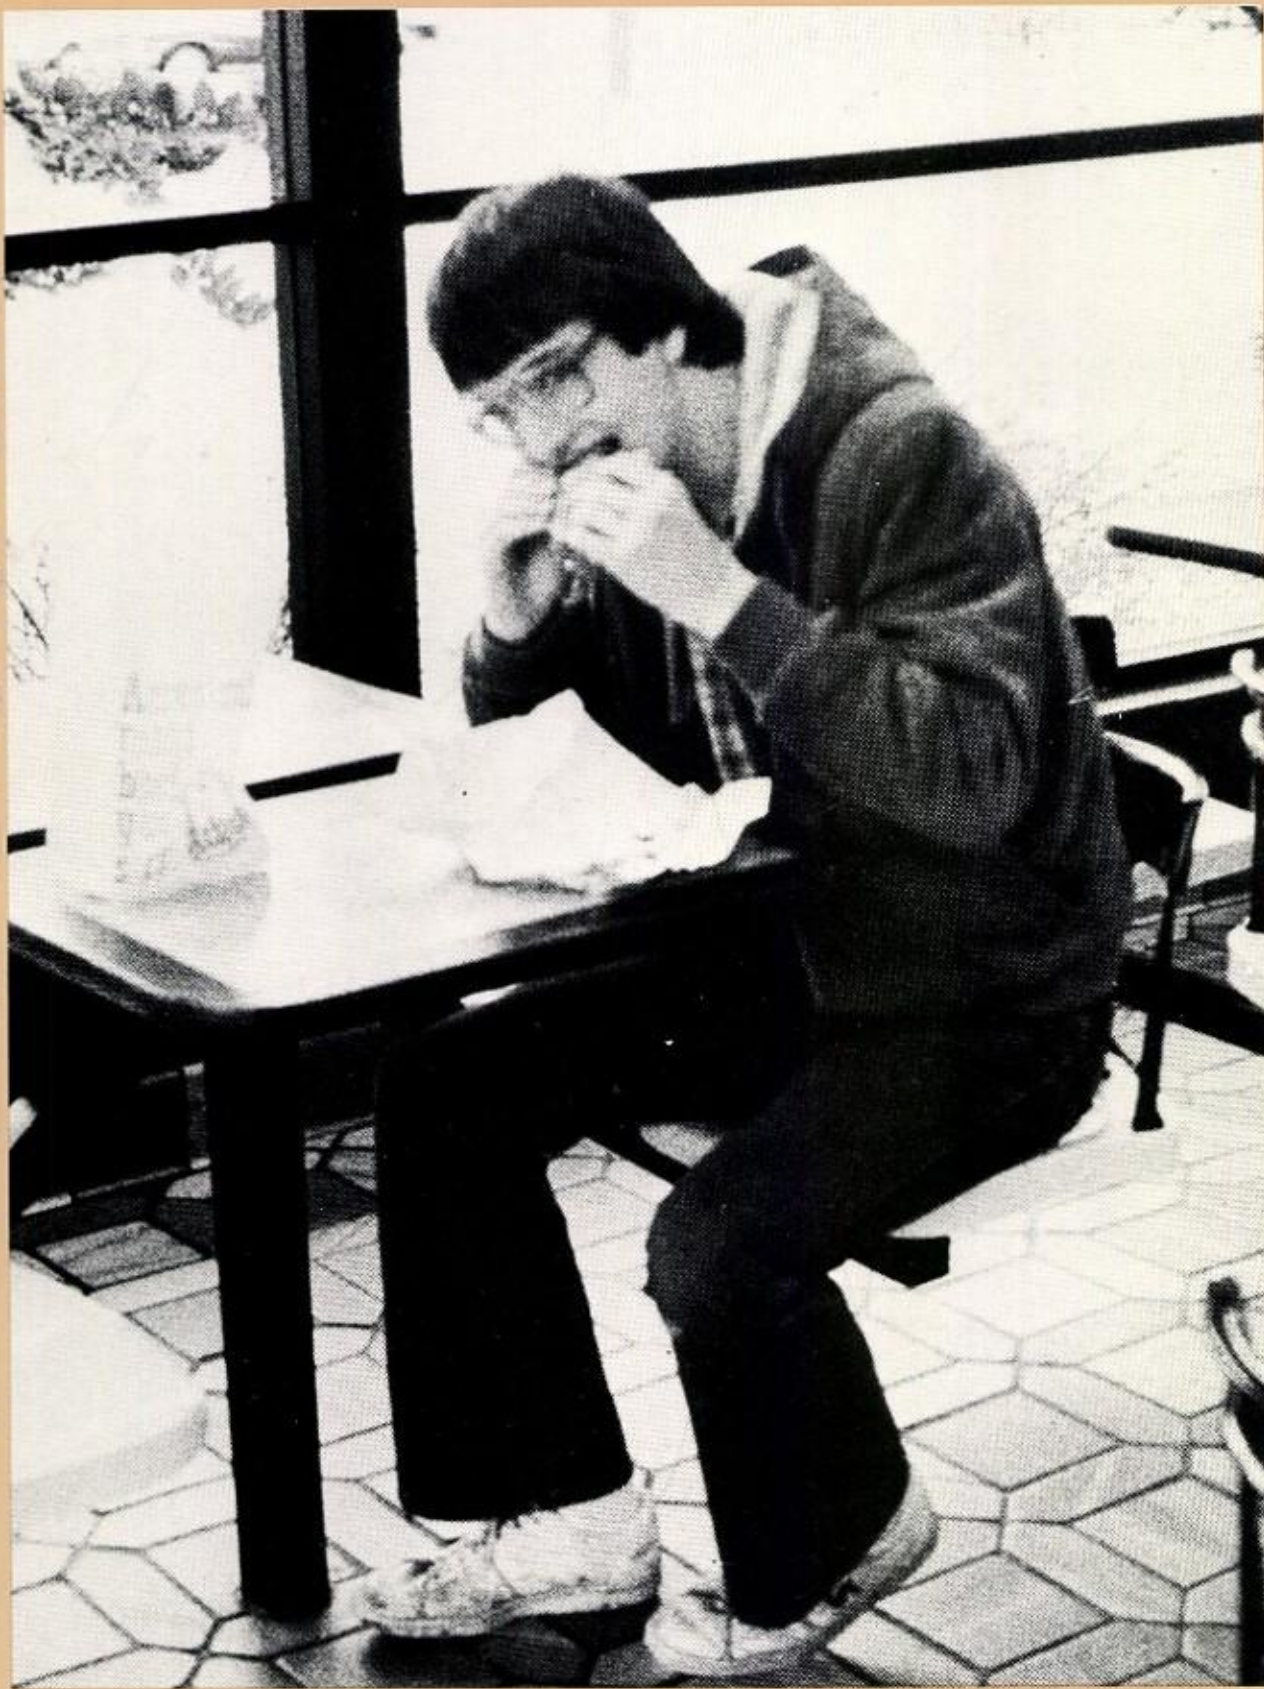

Cruising Cooper was a favorite activity among those who wished to be seen. Students from all over town crowded into Randol Mill Park every weekend.

Going to the movies with friends helped some to get their minds off homework. Many of the guys occupied their afternoons by working on their cars.

Everyone at Sam found a way to really love those weekends.

Godspell Attracts Multitudes

As the curtain opened, the members of the audience became aware that what they were about to experience was out of the ordinary. All that was visible when the entire stage was revealed were white tarps.

Godspell a rock musical, was presented by the Theater Arts Department on Nov. 19-21. The play originally came out in the 1960s. It brought to life the parables of Jesus in a simple, enjoyable, and easy to understand way.

Profits from the show were used to cover expenses such as set design, costumes, and royalties.

'How To Succeed . . .' Salutes Business

B The annual Sam Houston musical, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," was under the direction of teachers Mr. Don Blankenship, Mr. David Hightower, and Mr. Jeremy Walker.

Feb. 4 was the opening night to a three night run for the more than 50 member show production.

This humorous musical was first done for the public in 1961. It received the Pulitzer Prize and the New York Drama Critics Circle Award.

As the curtain opened, the main character, Finch, was seen washing windows and reading a book that led to his success. It was a funny rise for him from a mail room clerk to the chairman of the board.

A different skit for every pep rally put on by the cheerleaders, bellguards, and the Long Tall Texan kept students and the faculty entertained.

Thursday courtyard pep rallies got everyone ready for Friday.

Mr. and Miss School Spirit

Living up to the tradition of having that Big Sam spirit were seniors Dana Beverly and Gerald Beard. Both were very involved in extracurricular activities.

Dana was a varsity cheerleader and was elected as 1981 Homecoming Queen. She took part in the French Club and Student Congress. She was also busy with being Senior Class President.

Being a key player for Sam's varsity football team occupied much of Gerald's time during the fall. He also helped out with Student Congress projects.

The night of Oct. 23 was cold and dreary, but despite the weather Homecoming activities went off as planned. After the introduction of eight finalists, Dana Beverly was named Homecoming Queen for 1981.

Dana was a varsity cheerleader, along with being Senior Class president. She was also involved with the French Club, Student Congress, and was a member of the basketball team.

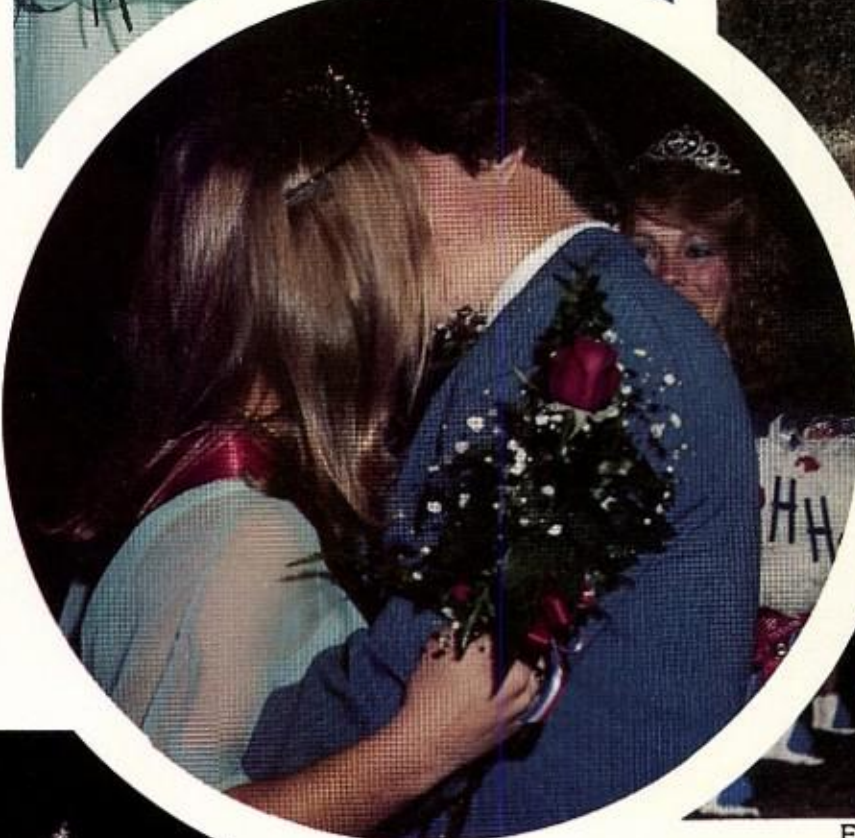

Taking part in the halftime ceremonies were Jonathon Walker and Ashley Armstrong, children of two Sam teachers. Judy Newell, 1980 Homecoming Queen, placed the crown on Dana's head. Mitch Pettigrew escorted Judy. Larry Walraven gave the new queen the traditional kiss.

Hall Decorations Put Seniors on Top

Homecoming brought competition between classes. Seniors took first place in hall decorations with the theme "Texan Hall of Fame." Spirit links gave seniors another first place. A total of $899 was collected by the three classes.

Car decoration was included for the first time. Jim McAndrew came out on top, winning dinner at Bobby McGee's. Kim Crow took second and dinner at Steak & Ale. Stacey Blair, in third, won dinner at Red Lobster.

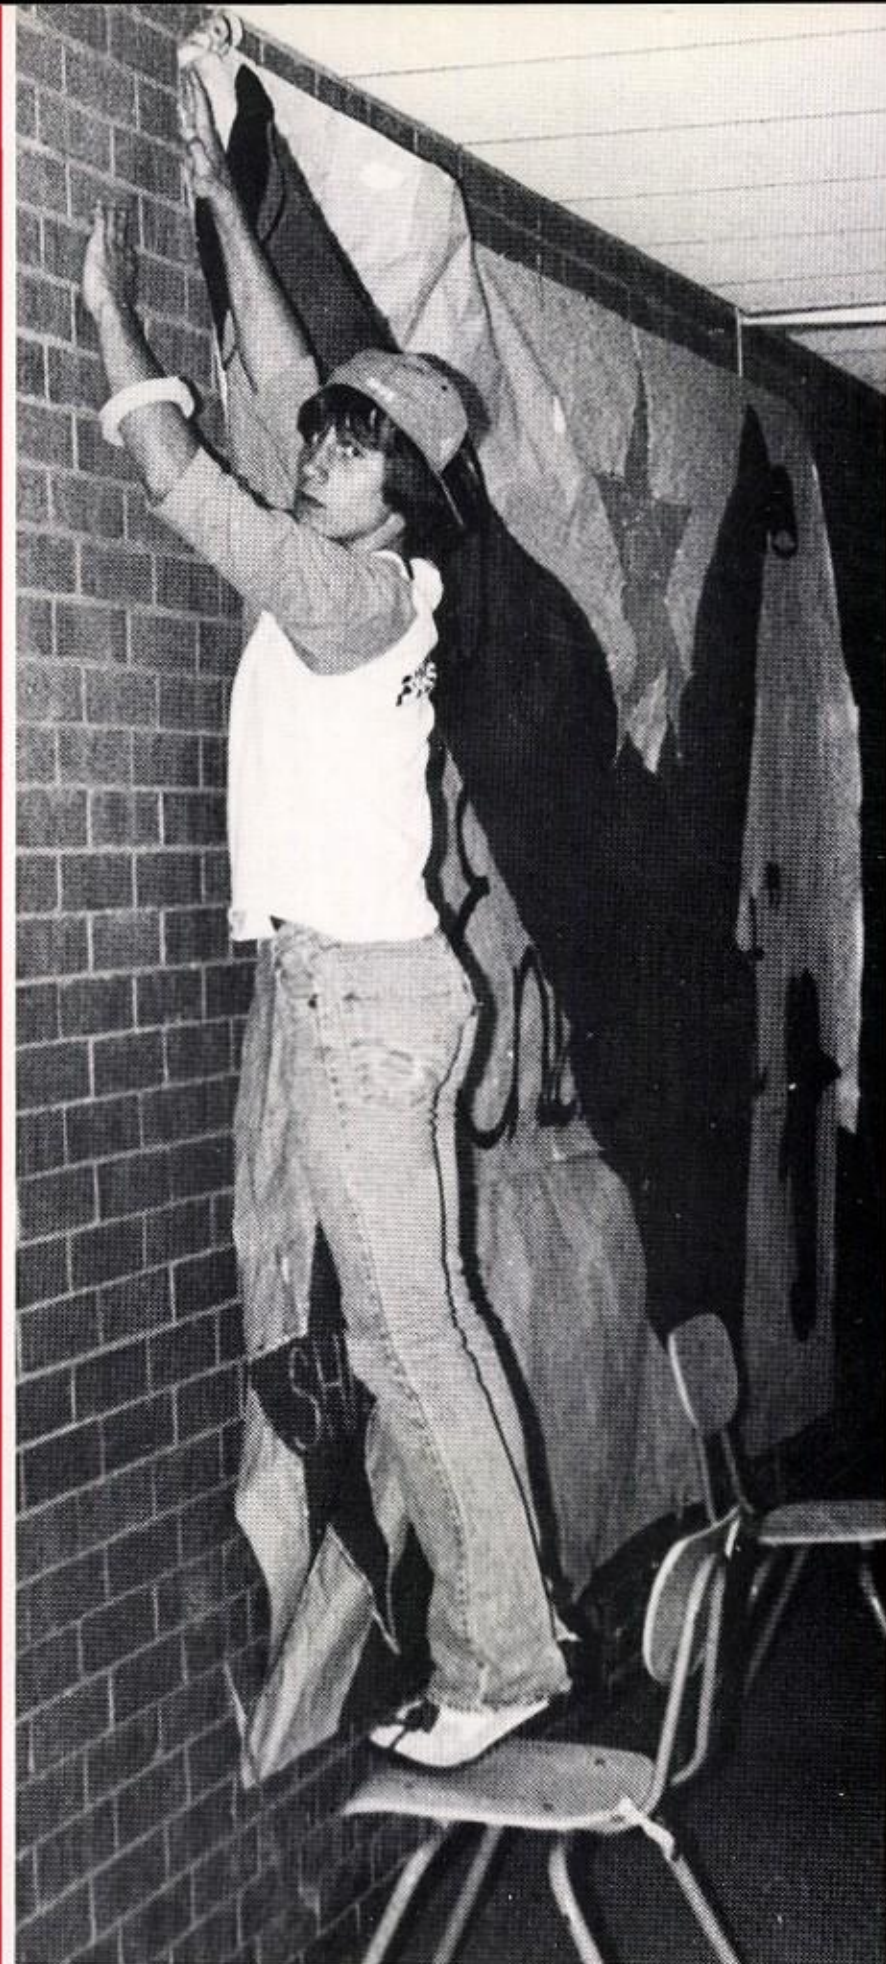

Room decoration results were Don Louis, first; Judy Thomas, second; and Sharon Phillips, third.

Sam's Students Strut Their Stuff

When a student walked into a dance he found something new. After paying to get in, he had to put his ticket in the box designating his class. This came about through the class competition sponsored by Student Congress.

Upon entering the cafeteria where every dance was held, everyone saw another new attraction, punk dancing. This craze swept the nation and took Sam Houston students by storm.

The type of music played varied, giving everyone a chance to get out and dance the way he knew best. Doing the "cotton-eyed Joe" and the two-step was just as popular as "punking."

When things got a little hot, there were always cokes being sold along with cookies, nachos, or something else to stop hunger pains.

Sam Houston's annual Texan Day was held April 8. Many students arrived at school "westernized" from their heads down to their feet.

Student Congress was in charge of organizing the carnival and dance. The Senior Class operated a jail in which a person could put out a warrant for another person for 30 cents. After a spell in jail, the person could get out by paying bail, also set at 30 cents. Other clubs sponsored booths where games could be played, stomachs filled, or souvenirs bought. The play was also named alternate at the area level. Indians combined the wild west with vaudeville and a little bit of circus as it displayed Buffalo Bill's feelings toward the destruction of the American Indian.

Five of the 15 cast members received awards for their performances during the two levels of competition. Honorees included John Bolding, district and area all-star cast, and Dan Pratt, district all-star cast and area honorable mention.

Other award winners were Kelly Saltsman, district all-star cast; Eddie Smith, area honorable mention; and Whitney Stephens, area honorable mention.

Valedictorian Greg Farnik gave an address to the graduating class at commencement entitled "Freedom to Excel." Along with being involved in school activities, Greg kept his grade point average higher than any other high school student in Arlington. He was very active in football, baseball, and FCA. He was also president of NHS and involved in FLC. Greg was a Twirp King nominee, Homecoming escort, and an escort-singer in the Miss Texan Pageant. He also attended Boys' State and was an NCTE writing contestant.

Next in line to Greg was salutatorian Teris Brantley, whose speech was entitled "Rainy Day Memories." She was very active in debate and drama, participating in productions and tournaments. This involvement won her membership in NFL and Thespians. Teris also took part in Honor Society and German Club. She helped by being a volleyball manager and a PTSA representative. The 12 students with the most points were then voted on by the student body. The title went to Gerald Beard and Dana Beverly.

Gerald has been an officer of choir and Future Homemakers of America. He was elected Mr. School Spirit along with Sophomore and Junior Class favorite. He also played football for three years.

Senior Class president, Dana was a cheerleader for two years. Dana was also elected Homecoming Queen and Miss School Spirit. In addition she has been involved in track, basketball, and volleyball.

Let's Get ROWDY!!!

Keeping that Big Sam spirit alive were the cheerleaders, bellguards, and Long Tall Texan. With this group of exuberant students to get things started, others found it easy to "get a little bit rowdy!"

There was never a dull moment at any of the pep rallies. Action began with cheerleaders leading everyone in chants and then doing cheers. That wasn't all as the group put on the weekly skits that poked fun at Sam's rivals. The fun wasn't over until the voices of these students were joined together in a song for the football captains.

Sophomores were led by the JV cheerleaders in spirit stick competition and at Thursday night games.

Assembly Flies with Texan Airlines

Members of the Journalism Department once again passed with flying colors. The annual Cherokee Assembly, held on May 5, kept the audience laughing as staffers peeked into everyday life at "Texan Airlines" terminal.

Vice-Principal G. A. Glenn was especially honored as he received the Cherokee dedication. The presentation of Mr. and Miss Sam Houston to Dana Beverly and Gerald Beard also highlighted the program.

The assembly closed with a final boarding call for all passengers traveling on Flight 82.

New Life Unique for AFS Students

Students from other countries were welcomed to the halls of Sam Houston. The two girls were Hilleke Oskamp from Hoorn, Holland and Hanna Eliassen from Levanger, Norway. Hilleke and Hanna both became quickly involved with school activities.

Upon her arrival, Hilleke visited some of Arlington's hotspots. She joined the flag corps and enjoyed being able to march out on the field during halftime.

Hanna became a member of the Newcomers' and Russian Clubs to occupy her time.

Both AFS Students were amazed at the amount of junk food Americans eat and the many commercials U.S. television has.

AFSers Show Off America

American Field Service provided an "instant family" for the foreign exchange students. The purpose of the club was to show the students what American life is like and ensure that they had an enjoyable visit to the U.S.

AFS activities began with a get acquainted party in September. Other fun times included Halloween and Christmas parties, complete with pinatas and decorated stockings.

In the spring, the annual AFS day was held. Exchange students from other schools visited Sam and talked to the student body about their native countries.

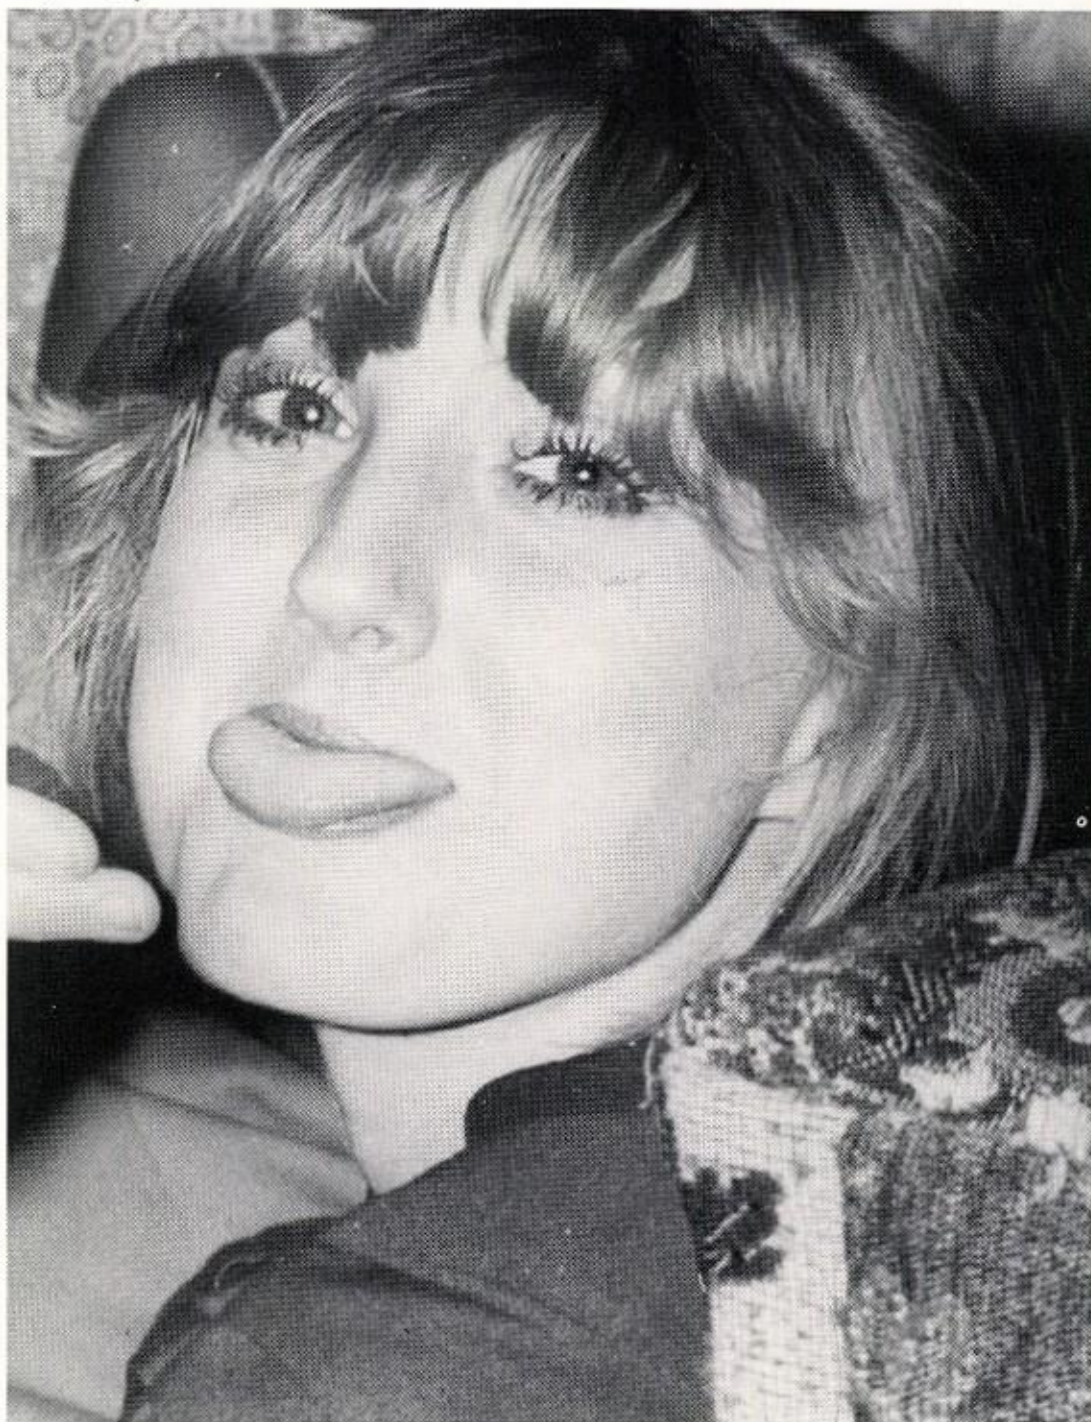

Club members sold posters and friendship links to raise money. The funds helped pay expenses for American students who were going abroad.

Band Achieves Silver

Band camp in August meant four hours of marching and practicing in the Texas heat. In the long run, though, the hours put into practicing paid off as Sam's band always gave top-notch performances at pep rallies and football games.

Many things kept the band members busy besides practicing. They took part in the musical and the Miss Texas Pageant at Sam and competed in marching, solo, and ensemble contests.

In May, the band traveled to Nashville and Knoxville for competition and some fun. The group brought home a silver medal and placed in the top 15 percent. While there, they got a chance to visit the World's Fair.

Year Finds Staffers Prepared

Conventions, workshops, and deadlines played a major role in the lives of the 23 Cherokee staffers. Journalists started work early by attending an August seminar at UTA. During the four day session, students decided on ideas for the annual including the theme, endsheets, and cover.

Journalism students also took a two-day trip to the Americana Hotel in Fort Worth to attend the annual Texas Association of Journalism Directors' Convention.

Another outing included a tour of Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas. Staff members displayed their appetites by eating more "free lunch" than any other Taylor guests in the past three years.

More fun came at Christmas time when pixie people were chosen and presents exchanged. With spring, came the annual Quill and Scroll banquet held at Homestead Barbeque.

However, not everything was fun and games. Deadlines, which approached quickly, had to be met. Many hours were spent working before and after school and during lunch in order to put together a top-notch yearbook.

Keen Minds Display Skill

If you always woke up with a keen mind then you probably would have fit in at a chess club meeting. Sponsored by Mrs. Vaudrene Hunt, the club provided a place for students to learn how to play and improve their chess game.

Tournaments highlighted the year and developed patience and skill for the 53 chess club members.

Activities began in October when the club sponsored a Homecoming nominee. A booth at the Texan Day Carnival provided funds for a party in the spring.

Celebration Completes Busy Year

Sam Houston's annual Dinner Theatre, held during the fall, was the joint effort of choir and FHA. This was the first show put on by the choir under the direction of Mr. David Hightower. The musical also brought out members' talents.

Throughout the school year, the choir competed with others. Singers took part in concert and sight reading contests. In UIL competition, they entered in solo and ensemble contests.

First Class members drew people from the courtyard for their Yee Haw show at the Texan Day Carnival. The big event for the choir was Celebration, a program made up of songs and dances. The show ran for two nights, May 10-11, and ended both nights with "When the Roads Come Together," a song dedicated to the seniors.

CVAE Prepares Students

Students who wished to get a head start into the working world got involved in CVAE. This organization allowed members to attend classes in the mornings and hold afternoon or night jobs.

Coordinated Vocational Academic Education taught persons of age 16 years and older the skills needed to work successfully in a job that deals with other people.

By working in CVAE, students felt they were a part of society. They also gained the knowledge and experience necessary to build a strong foundation for the future.

DE Earns Recognition At State

Contests played a major role in the lives of Distributive Education students, earning the Sam club state chapter of the year. Individual winners included Jim McAndrew, Male Student of the Year, area and state; Yvonne Negrete, Area Creative Marketing Research; Brenda Oakes, Creative Marketing Research, area and state; Karen Scribner, Area Female Student of the Year.

Brenda Oakes went to national competition June 26-July 1 in Chicago, Illinois.

Projects included appearances on KTVT-TV and KEGL radio, a bowl-a-thon for Spin-a-bifida, and a canned goods drive.

Athletes Collect Cans

Fellowship of Christian Athletes was an organization that let athletes meet in a classroom rather than on a field or a court. Students and sponsors, Mr. Don Louis and Mr. David Clyde, met on weekday nights to discuss their upcoming projects.

For a Halloween activity, the group did something a little different. They went Trick-or-Canning. Instead of going door to door receiving candy, the students asked the people for canned goods.

HECE Combines Fun, Work

Home Economics Cooperative Education provided students with an opportunity to work in a homemaking related field and receive school credit. In addition to work and school, members of the club participated in many activities.

Club members sold student directories, held a bake sale, and worked at Six Flags to raise money.

At the annual HECE banquet held in April, Kathy Barefield was named outstanding student of the year. Kim Kolanek received the Altrusa Scholarship.

Club Greet Students Cheerfully

Making students new to Arlington feel welcome was the goal of the Newcomers Club. A brunch was held in the fall to help those students get acquainted and make Texan friends.

With the semester change came another party to familiarize new students with school clubs and activities.

Twelve members of the National Forensic League qualified for State. The club attended five tournaments at which members had the opportunity to advance to the state level.

Texas debaters also performed a community service for the blind. They taped such classics as Tom Sawyer, Red Badge of Courage, Johnny Tremain, and The Diary of Anne Frank to make it easier for blind students to become exposed to them.

The highest NFL honor possible, double rubies, was achieved by Teris Brantley and David Parnell.

National Honor Society

Maintaining a grade point average of at least 10 was not the only occupation of National Honor Society members. They hosted a reception for all returning Texans after the Homecoming pep rally.

Trips to the Botanical Gardens in Fort Worth and the Ice Capades at Tarrant County Convention Center highlighted the year. Club members also traveled to Canton's First Monday Flea Market in the fall.

Students Gain Important Skills

Students found that many different things are taught at Sam Houston that can be very advantageous to their futures. One such course was office education in which students learned the skills needed to run an office efficiently.

In area OEA competition, three Sam members placed. Lonna Helms took second place in chapter scrapbook and later placed sixth in state. Rebecca Thomas received third in prepared speech. Fourth place in General Clerical I went to Phil Hayes.

April 8 was the day of the Employer-Employee Luncheon at the Arlington Community Center. Mr. O'Neil Harris was the speaker. Lonna was named Outstanding VOE Student by the Arlington Educational Secretaries and Paraprofessionals Association.

Orchestra — Great Combination

Fall found Sam's seven member orchestra tuning up for a busy year. Musicians participated in contests, where they received many awards, and community services.

The small orchestra, which competed against full groups of 30 to 40 members, came out on top in UIL contest. Sam won Sweepstakes Award for the first time in the school's history.

Sophomores Howard Geisel, Julie Krueger, James Wycoff, and junior Stephanie Jorgensen were accepted into the all-region orchestra.

James and Howard also earned membership into the all-state symphony orchestra.

Howard, James, Jimmie Copelin, and Mike Maidens were chosen as outstanding performers in the AMTA solo ensemble competition.

In September the performers entertained for the opening of the new city hall. They also displayed their talent at Fielder Museum during Pete Henz's clock exhibit.

Photographers Excel with Quality

Ten students hung cameras around their necks in August and photographed the school year for the publications, Texans Talk and Cherokee. Whether it was a track meet, a tasting bee, or a musical production, photographers made every effort to record the activities of the year.

Advanced photographers registered for photo-journalism in an effort to learn about both fields. Rodger Dewberry and Jason Sloan headed the staff.

Photographers exhibited works at Arlington's Gallery 35 during March where they received 14 out of 28 awards. They also won 36 ribbons at an industrial arts interscholastic contest in April.

Student representatives were selected from homerooms to give the young adults a say in club matters.

Speakers Enlighten Science Club

After electing officers in the spring, the 20 members of the Science Club settled down for an exciting year. An M&M sale in the fall brought $130 to the club fund. The money was used to pay for activities throughout the year.

A Christmas party was held at Chuck E. Cheese's Pizza Time Theater. Gifts were exchanged and everyone had their fill of pizza. Members also enjoyed testing their skill at video games.

All was not fun and games, however, as guest speakers taught students many interesting facts about the world of science.

A booth at Texan Day raised money to pay for the club's field trip in the spring.

Fun Club Proudly Boosts Spirit

During football season, it was not unusual to see signs reading "Home of a Fighting Texan" in surrounding neighborhoods. The Spirit Sisters, with sponsor Mrs. Jean Kevil, were responsible for these hand painted signs in the yards of football players.

This group was organized in an effort to boost spirit among the athletes. The girls did such things as bake cookies and cakes and even decorate the players' bedroom.

At the end of each season, the guys met their "sisters" and attended a banquet. The girls and players saw a humorous film about football bloopers. With the finish of the basketball season, the group gathered at K-Bob's and for something different, the baseball players were taken to a Ranger Game.

The annual autumn shrimp sale raised close to $800 for the club.

Sam Houston Tex-Annes began practice for the football season after an award winning summer at camp.

While attending this camp, the girls excelled in competition. They were given first place in creative night dance. Sam's drill team took third in high kick and prop dance. The Gussie Nell Davis honor was also received by the Tex-Annes. To be able to attend camp next year, the girls raised money by selling stuffed animals.

For an October activity, the team had a Halloween party at a senior member's house. Afterwards, everyone went to the movies. A hayride was held in December for the girls.

Deadlines Keep Staffers Busy

Texans Talk

Every other Thursday was a madhouse in the journalism room as the newspaper staffers speedily worked to put together Friday's edition.

Besides meeting the bi-weekly deadlines, the Texans Talk members attended workshops with the Cherokee staff. Even before school started, a few took part in the UTA workshop during August. The journalists also stayed overnight at the Americana Hotel in Fort Worth in October.

To get into the Christmas spirit, the members had secret pals with whom to exchange gifts. For one week, everyone raced to class to find what his surprise would be. A party was held on Dec. 7 to reveal the secret gift givers. Many were surprised, but some were all too clever and figured out who was their pal.

Club Attracts Youth

Members of a new club, Youth Alive, found the importance of God in their lives. They hosted many guest speakers. Topics ranged from rock music to the work of potential for young people in Christian fields.

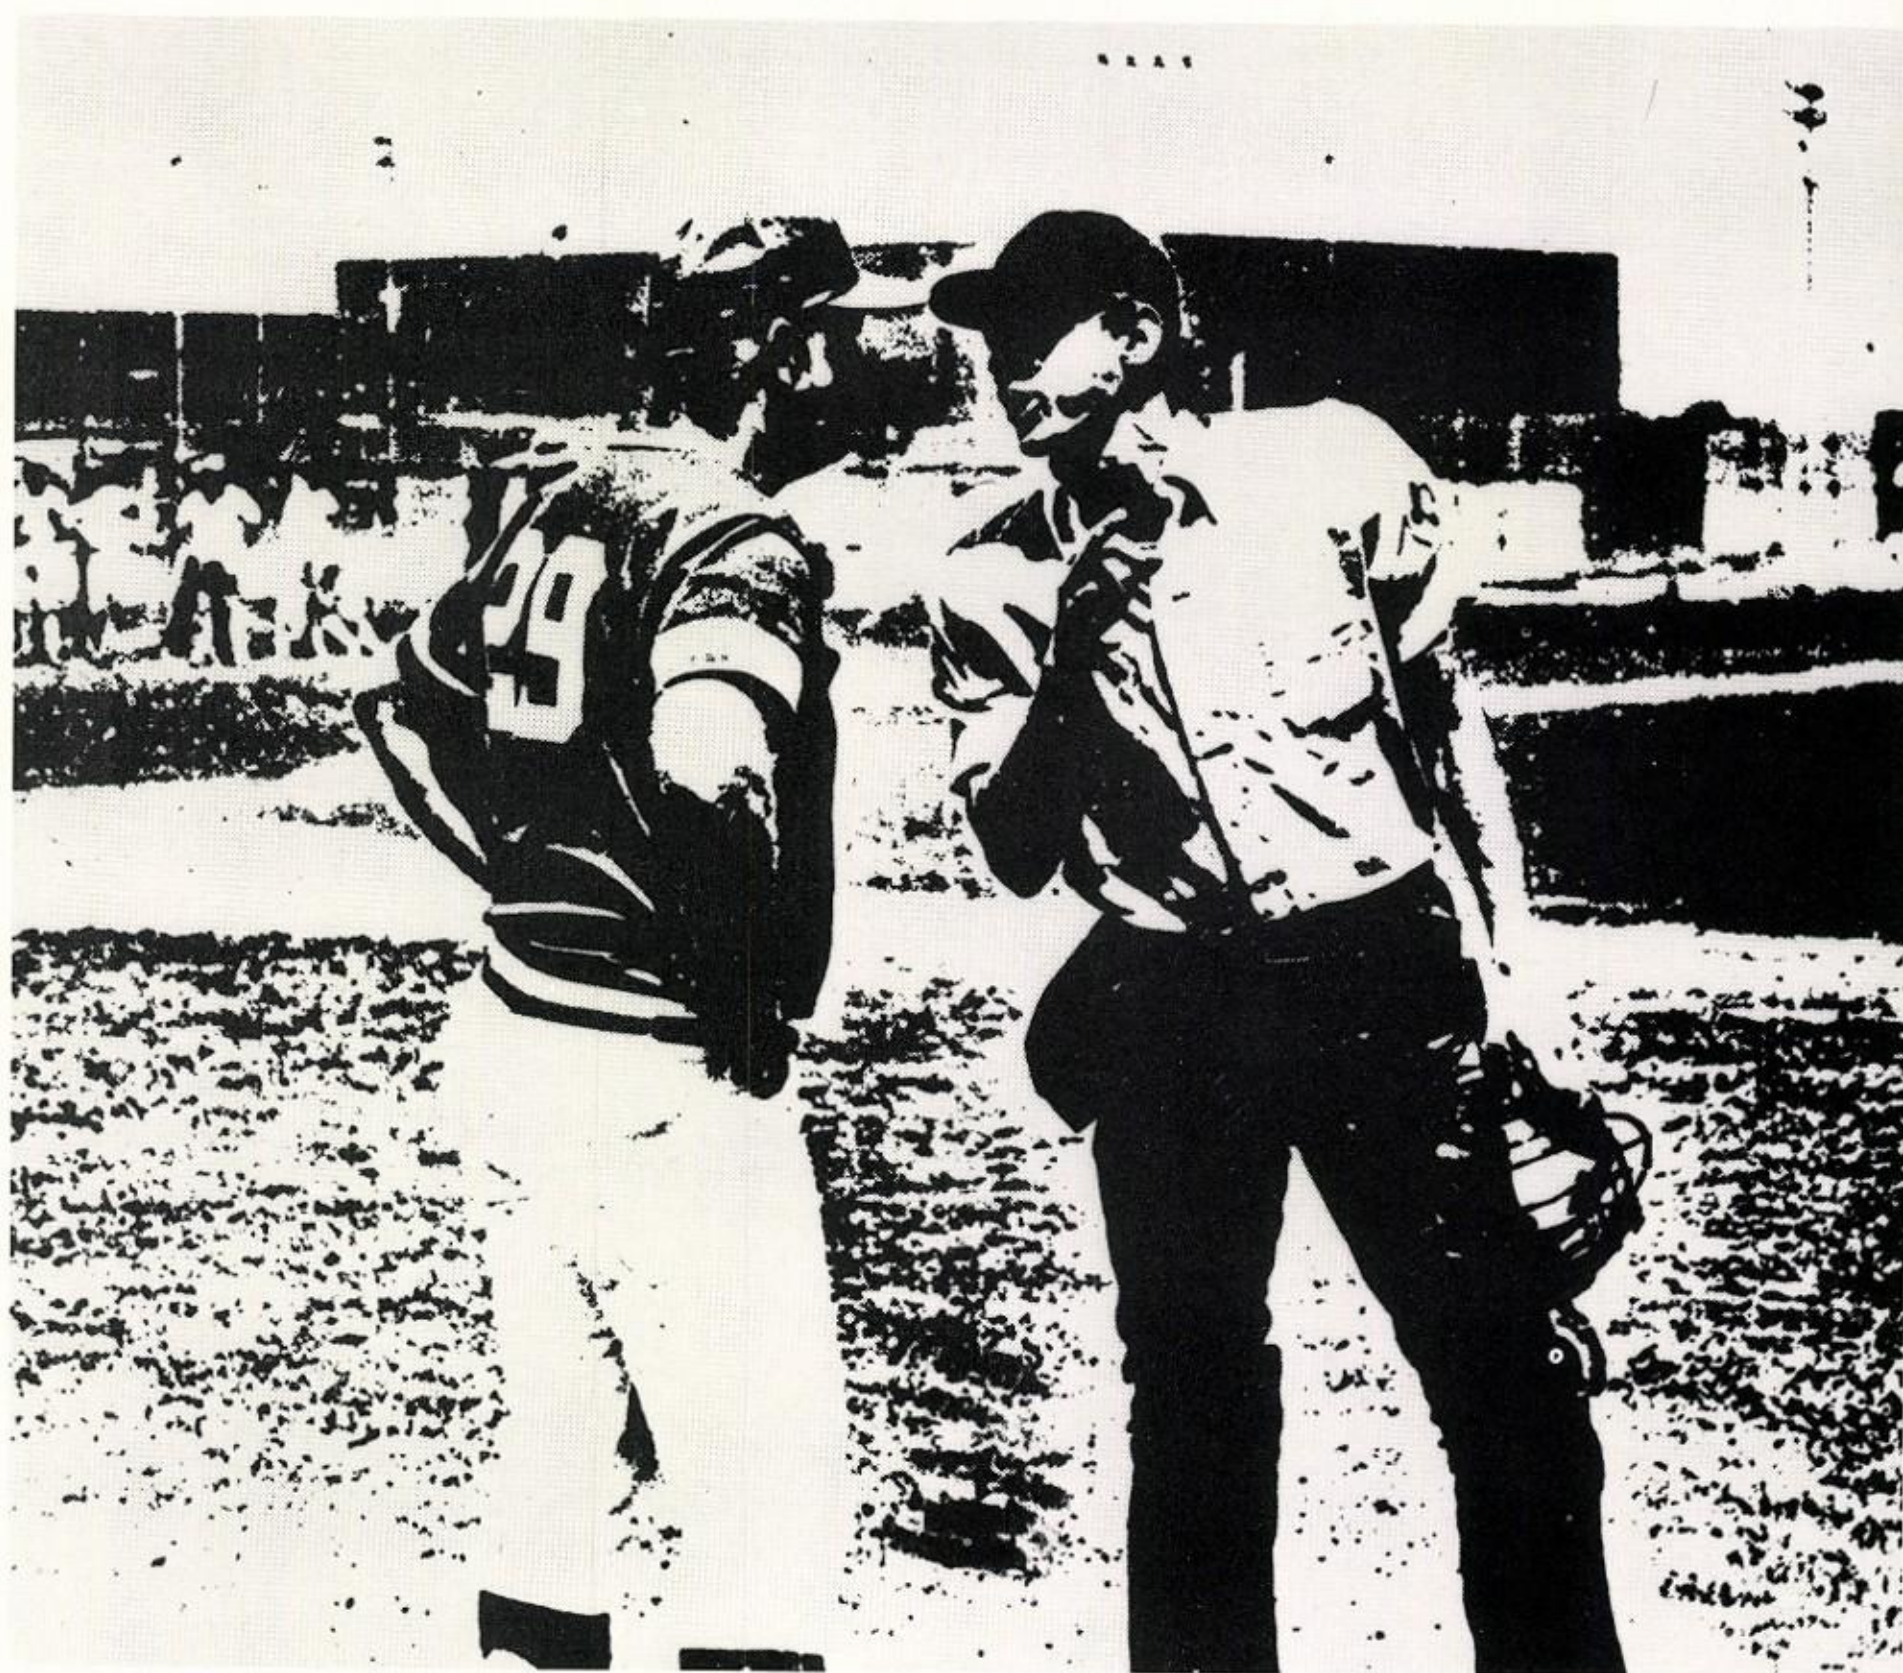

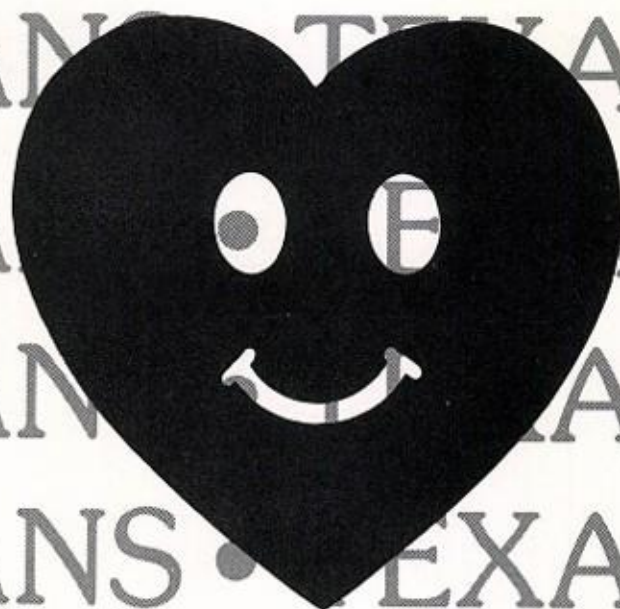

Goals of the club were to educate people in Christian life and to help people realize that God loves them, in spite of their faults.

At after school socials, members had the opportunity to hear testimonies of others' experiences with Christian life or to participate in group discussions.

Pre-season games saw the Texans even out their record at 2-2-0. Sam opened play with a hard-fought loss to the Kimball Knights. The score at Sprague Field at this first game was 10-6. With spirits still high, despite the loss, the Texans then defeated the Southwest Rebels at Wilemon Field 28-3.

Fired up from the win over the Rebels, Sam went on to defeat the Arlington Heights Yellowjackets 42-7 at Farrington Field. The next game, the Texans returned to Wilemon Field where they lost to MacArthur Cardinals 14-0. The Texans put their losses behind them, learned from their mistakes, and went on to district play.

(A) Whether out on the field or sitting on the sidelines, seniors Keith Birdsong, Chris Tanner, Jon Dake, and Greg Steele intensely follow each play. (B) Coach Tommy Cantrell gives his final instructions to senior end Jon Dake as he returns to the field.

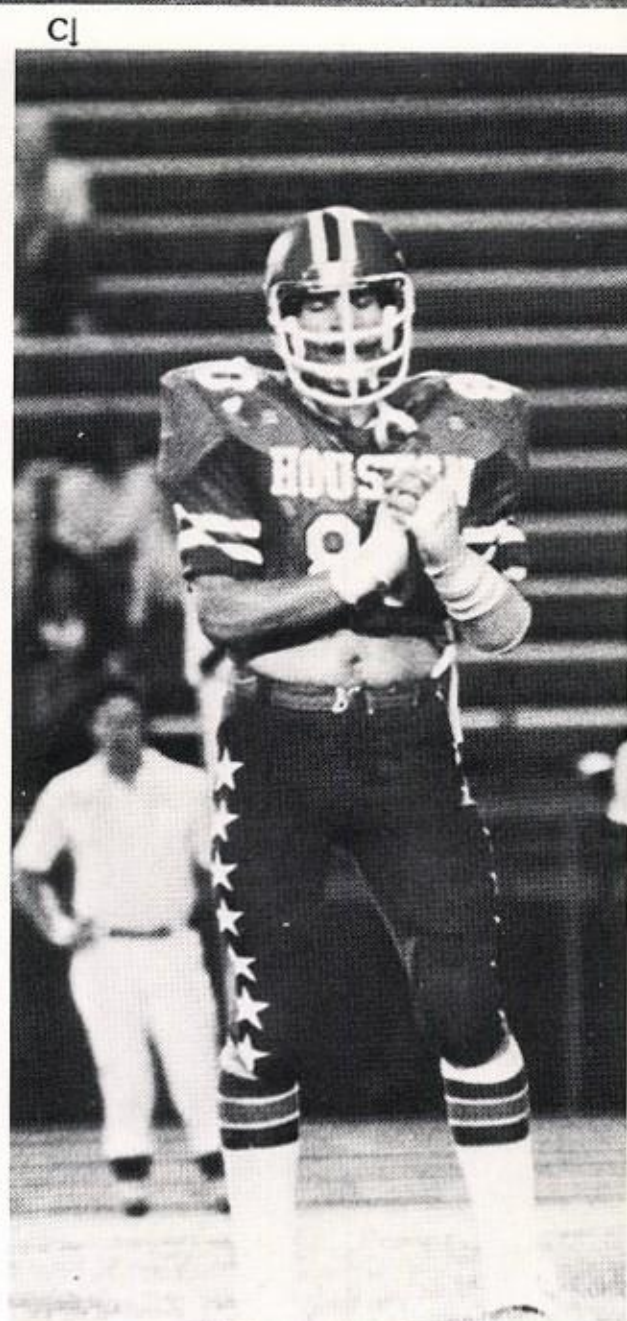

Injuries Plague Season

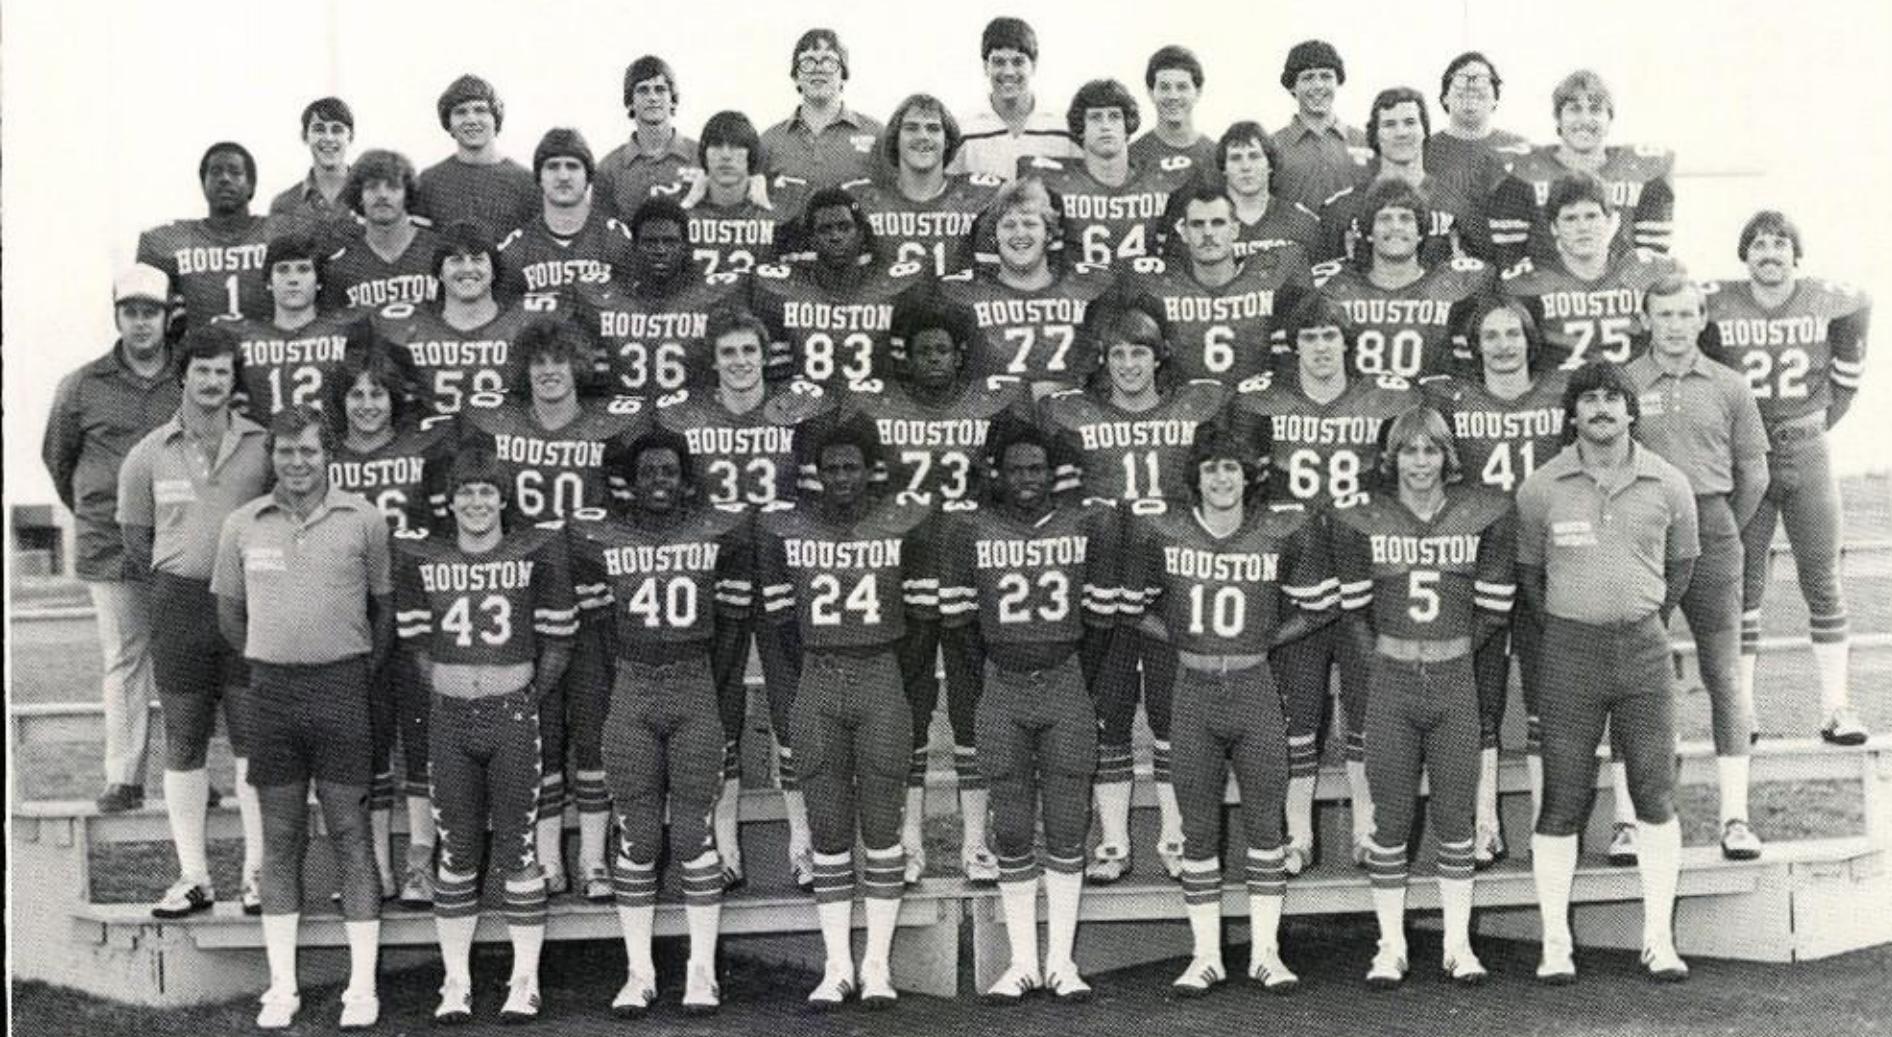

Sam entered district play with two wins, two losses, and a number of injuries. Texan quarterback Greg Farnik never started the season as a result of a necessary knee operation. Starters Gerald Beard and Greg Steele were later forced to the sidelines or pressbox because of knee injuries. Larry Walraven suffered an ankle and foot injury in the Texans' scrimmage game, leaving the team without its starting center.

Head Coach Billy Stewart commented, "At the beginning of the 1981 football season, Sam's outlook was very optimistic, but to sum it up accurately and quickly, injuries killed us. Sam Houston never gave up the pride that has been established here; we competed well in every contest."

In spite of the injuries and bad breaks, Big Sam did go on to beat Burleson 7-0 and gave Richland a very rough time Homecoming, losing to the Rebels 11-14. The Texans played like champions under adverse circumstances. David Bryant and Mike Allen had fine seasons. David Bryant was the Texans' leading receiver with 26 receptions for about 323 yards. Mike Allen averaged 6.5 yards per carry for 910 yards. With 12 pass receptions, he had over 1000 yards for the season.

JV Disbands after See-Saw Season

Junior Varsity players had a season of ups and downs. They started off with a down, by losing to Kimball 0-7. Then came the high point of their season, and their only two wins. JV'ers defeated Lamar 14-6, and L.D. Bell 14-7.

Later in the season, the junior squad was defeated by Lewisville and Plano West 0-13 and 0-30, following Richland's forfeit. Their final losses came from Plano East and L.D. Bell, before Varsity Coach Billy Stewart moved all the JV'ers up to the injury plagued varsity.

Coach Stewart made his decision when the junior varsity lost to Plano East. He decided that with all the injuries on varsity and the JV losses that it was "hard to work out and play games." The JV season ended with a record of 2-5.

A tie and four straight wins was the super way the B-team started out its season. Texans tied Kimball 0-0 and then went on to defeat Southwest 8-0, Arlington Heights 21-0, MacArthur 31-7, and Arlington 29-28.

Although the Texans started out with a bang, their winning streak was soon ended by Haltom and Burleson with scores of 6-8 and 7-8. But the B-team regained its composure in time to beat Richland 3-0.

Nevertheless, the B-team couldn't finish up the season with the same momentum. The last two games were losses to Lamar 6-17, and Bowie 20-21, ending the season with a record of 5-4-1.

Spikers Take Third In 8-5A

Varsity Coach Sue Ellis summed up the season for the varsity volleyball team. "This year had some high and some low moments. Our low moment was losing to Burleson, destroying our chance for a district tie. Our high moment was defeating Bowie, the district champ, giving them their only district loss."

Although the girls had to settle for a third place in district with a record of 8-4, the final win against Bowie boosted their spirits.

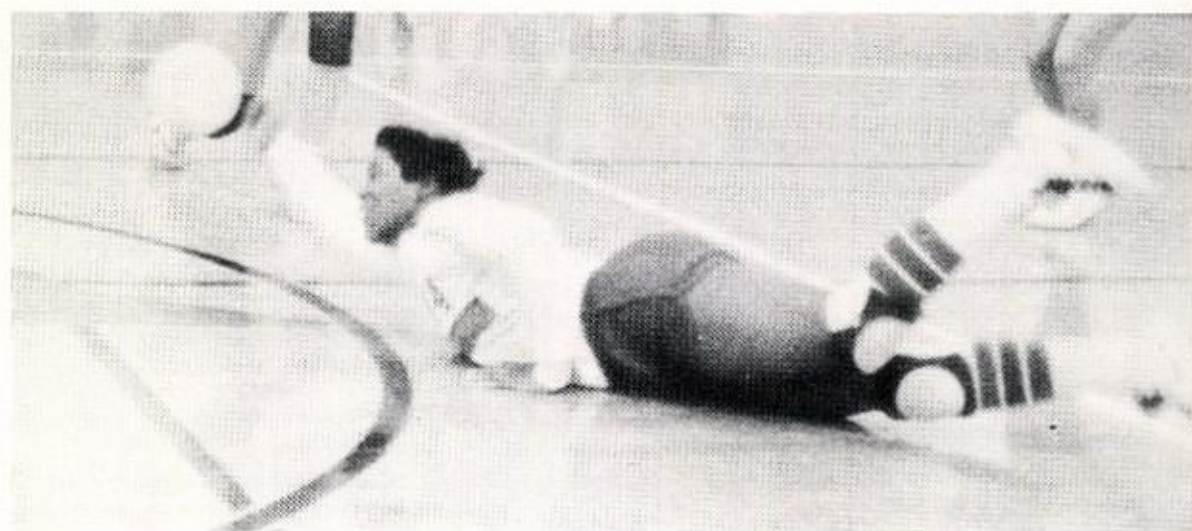

Varsity spikers started off the first half of district play with four straight wins, defeating Lamar, Halton, Burleson, and Richland. Losses to AHS and BHS gave the Texans a 4-2 first half record.

Rebuilding Season Proves Rewarding

The girls soon got back on the track the second half by easily defeating Lamar and Haltom by scores of 15-6, 15-9 and 15-10, 15-2. Then came their unexpected upset by the Burleson Elks, almost destroying their chance for the district title. The spikers then defeated Richland 15-6, 15-5 before they had another loss to Arlington 11-15, 15-9, 13-15.

The volleyballers were able to regain their composure in time to give the district champs their only loss to end the season. The Texans shot down the Bowie Volunteers 16-14, 3-15, 15-9.

Considering the team had only one returning varsity player, Coach Ellis thought the girls did well.

Major Adjustments Due to Changes

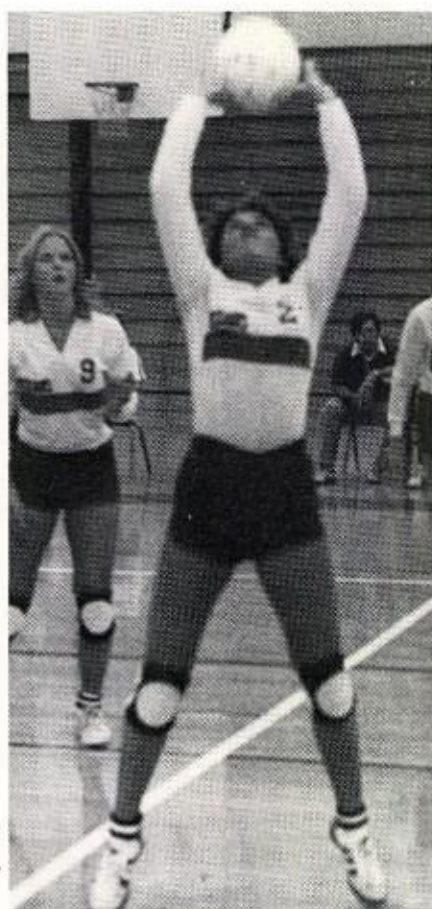

A] Big Sam's Junior Varsity Volleyball team had a 3-3 record after the first half of play. They won their matches against Haltom 2-1, Richland 2-1, and Bowie 2-1. Their losses were to Lamar 0-2, Burleson 0-2, and Arlington 1-2.

The second half of the season, the JV players were not as successful. Their record was 1-5. The only team Sam Houston defeated was Haltom, again two games to one. The Texans lost against Lamar 1-2, Burleson 1-2, Richland 1-2, Arlington 0-2, and Bowie 1-2. Coach Cindy Duval, commented, "This year the record does not give a true picture of the success that was made. Because of changes throughout the season, the JV players had major adjustments to make, and they did."

First Year Players Work Hard

Texan B-team players did not do quite as well as junior varsity did. B-team played four games in the first half of the season and lost all four. They lost to Haltom in two games by scores of 9-15, and 5-15. Richland defeated them 4-15 and 10-15. Arlington won 6-15 and 6-15 again. Then Bowie beat the Texans 5-15 and 4-15.

The second half of play showed improvement. Haltom beat the B-team players two games to Sam's one. The girls came out playing strong against Richland, beating them in the last two games of the match. Then they lost their next two matches to Arlington 0-2 and Bowie 0-2.

Coach Cindy Duval commented, "The B-team worked hard."

Big Four Tournament Highlights Play

Texans became more consistent during district play but were about a basket way in several games from ever contending for the district title. In district play, Sam's 4-8 record does not tell the whole story of the varsity roundballers' eight district losses; three were by two points, two were by four points, one by five, and one by six. All were close games.

Sam ended the season with the best record in intra-city play, 6-2. Arlington and Bowie went out with 5-3 records, and Lamar finished with 0-8, making the Texans city-champs.

David Bird, David Alexander, Jonathan Henderson and Ken Pen-nie will be returning to the starting line-up for the 1982-1983 season. Two of these were named to all-district line-up. David Bird was chosen for the second team, and David Alexander received honorable mention.

Height Hampers JV'ers

The Texan JV Basketball Team had hard times this season due to lack of height. All their accomplishments came through their effort and hustle. Mike Wilbon was the leading player, having 357 points, followed by Bobby LeGrand, Kevin Richardson, and Eric Gant. Leading offensive rebounder was Alex Morris with 65, and leading defensive rebounder was Mike Wilbon with 71.

JV roundballers had a record of 6-11 for the non-district season and a record of 3-9 for district. They scored a total of 1427 points and had 746 rebounds. Their overall record was 9-20.

They also received consolation in the Duncanville Tournament by winning four games.

Sam Houston's junior varsity girls' basketball team had an outstanding overall record of 19-7. Sam went through the entire pre-season with only two losses, one to Duncanville and one to Bowie. However, the girls also defeated each of these teams in pre-season. Duncanville was beaten twice.

Highlighting pre-season play for the Texans was a 59-26 win over Keller High School.

Sam ended district with a 7-5 record. In the first half, the Texans defeated Haltom, Richland, and Burleson, losing to Arlington, Bowie, and Lamar. The second half results were the same except for a victory over Bowie.

Texan swimmers placed 2nd in district with a team of four. The team consisted of Pat Henz, James Alexander, Marty Buckholt, and Kevin Birdsong. They participated in 10 meets throughout the season and did especially well in their relay.

Everyone on the team qualified for the regional meet, where Texans placed first in three events. James Alexander earned first in the breaststroke, Marty Buckholt in the 500, and the whole team in the relay. Other awards were won by Pat Henz, who took second in the backstroke, and Kevin Birdsong, who placed second in the 500.

Swimmers had to be at practice at 5:30 a.m. every morning.

Their banquet was held on April 30 at the Ramada Inn, where Pat Henz was awarded the most spirited, Marty Buckholt most dedicated, and Kevin Birdsong most improved.

Sam's Varsity Soccer Team finished with the best record ever, 9-2-1. The Texan scoring was performed by Bobby Jach, Doug Levesque, Tom Hanes, Fletcher Douglas, and Tod Chapman. After just 10 games, the team had rolled up over 50 goals.

The stern defense, led by Les Breedlove, Russell Jones, Eddie Kennedy, Thai Nguyen, and goalie Cliff Fort, along with seniors Stuart Street and Steve Thompson, held opponents under 10 goals.

Coach Reuben Tomlin feels that this was the "best soccer team that Sam Houston has ever had." He attributes the successful season to a "combination of hard work, dedication, and a total team effort."

The junior varsity finished with a 4-4-2 record. The team simply missed its chances.

Texan netters had a successful fall season, preparing for district. They received first place in the Trinity Team Tournament and participated in the Arlington Invitational Tournament. The tennis team also had scrimmage games with area high schools such as Bowie, Arlington, Burleson, and South Grand Prairie.

District season consisted of two matches against Richland, Bowie, Lamar, Burleson, Arlington, and Haltom. These matches were played on Fridays.

During the month of March, the netters did well in two more tournaments. Both teams took second in the Trinity Team Tournament and Ray Jones took home a first place trophy in the singles matches at the JV Trinity Tournament.

The leaving senior tracksters also had comments. Aurthur Jeffery felt that "even with the new teams in district next year, I feel that Papa Shaw (Coach Thompson) will once again win district, reach regionals, and go to state."

Major Sykes stated, "I think the attitude of the team was that of a winner. As a matter of fact, we are winners, and we are proud to be the forerunners of a winning tradition."

Individual Hardballers Stand Out

With an overall record of 13-10 and a 7-5 district record, Sam had a winning season. It just was not enough to capture district. Sam took third, behind AHS and BHS.

Sam's varsity earned some impressive individual awards. Greg Farnik was named the first team designated hitter and received pitching honorable mention.

Mark Jones was labeled first team second baseman. Bobby Moore was named second team outfielder.

Honorable mentions were given to Clark Cantrell for first base, Craig Dyer for third base and pitching, Darrell Vick for centerfield, and David Bird for pitching.

J V hardballers had a good season and a 14-10 overall record. In non-district play they defeated Nimitz 5-2 and 7-6, Dunbar 10-2, Irving 14-3, and Newman Smith 15-7. Their losses came from Arlington Heights, Paschal, Dunbar, South Grand Prairie, Irving MacArthur, Bowie, and Newman Smith. The games gave them a record of 5-7 going into district.

Even though their 5-7 record didn't seem too strong, it proved to be just a warm-up for the B-team. Players went on to become the fifth straight Texan JV Baseball Team to win district. First, Sam beat Haltom 2-0 before losing to Lamar and Richland. Then Texans regained their composure and defeated Bowie, Burleson, Haltom, Richland, and Lamar by scores of 3-1, 16-6, 7-3, 2-1, and 8-3. Their third loss came from Arlington, but JV'ers got revenge the next game and beat the Colts 7-6. Defeating Bowie 12-3 and Burleson 6-5 ended the season and gave Sam a first place district record of 9-3.

Some of the outstanding hitters were David DaVault, Tommy Coates, David Snipes, Phil Caffey and Wade Godwin, all with over a .300 district batting average. Two pitchers also contributed to the district title, David Snipes and Barry Jones, who were a big part of the Texans' success.

The team's stats proved to be good, too. B-team hardballers had a district batting average of .284 and fielding average of .879.

School Board Votes $15 Parking Fee

Behind the actual planning of the new parking fee of $15 was the Arlington School Board. Many students were shocked at the idea of paying to park, but the members of the board felt it was necessary for the upkeep of the parking lot.

Something else that made a debut was the attendance policy. It was voted in by the School Board and enforced by the schools. This policy changed students' thoughts about cutting classes and ambling in tardy.

Members chose to open James Martin High School out by Lake Arlington in the fall. They deliberated over the idea of a fifth high school because of the growth of the city.

(A) Seven members make up the school Board. Included are Mr. Eroy Harry, vice president; Dr. Tom Telle, president; Mr. Rick Cline, secretary; Mr. Joe Jesko, Mrs. Diane Patrick, Mr. Gary McClaskey, and Mr. Clyde Godfrey, assistant secretary. (B) Mr. J. W. Counts heads the AISD as Superintendent.

Standing behind Sam Houston 100 percent was Mr. B. H. Remynse. His support for all school activities was tremendous as he took part in many pep rallies and attended a number of the games, plays, and choir shows.

Mr. Remynse really got involved with the students, and he had a great amount of spirit.

Working as vice-principals were Mr. G. A. Glenn, Mr. Monroe Bicknell, and Mrs. Tommie Williams.

Mr. Glenn found himself busy by getting involved with the students and activities, along with spring UIL literary events. He also kept a calendar of club happenings.

Dean of boys, Mr. Bicknell had the responsibility of keeping attendance records up to date. All the textbooks in school were a major concern of his.

Mrs. Williams had the job of dean of girls. She played a big part in the Newcomer's Club. The coordination of the Miss Texan Pageant also kept her busy.

Counselors Solve Problems

Operating with one less, the remaining counselors inherited "stepchildren."

Consequently many students became acquainted with a new face. Counselors worked with students throughout the year whether it was just a friendly chat or to help with a problem.

Constantly active, the counselors dealt with schedule changes, administering the PSAT to juniors and sophomores, and parent conferences. They also calculated grade point averages and informed seniors of graduation requirements.

Computerization once again proved its worth. When new schedules had to be made, data was typed into the computer terminal and the result was printed out quickly.

Long hours were put in by everyone involved in one or more of the fine arts classes.

A Classes in the Homemaking Department aided students in home life. Three classes were taught for a full year while there were four one semester courses.

Child development studied the life of a youngster from conception to five years of age. Home and family living dealt with one's self-image.

While home management students went into all aspects of managing a house, the furnishings class worked with interior design of a home.

Homemaking I, II, and III combined parts of the semester courses with food and clothing.

Typing Classes Keep Teachers Busy

College bound and career minded students found Sam's business courses advantageous to their future plans.

Typing classes were the most abundant and filled of the courses offered. Students spent the first six weeks learning the home keys and the coordination needed to type with speed. By the spring, typing students were no longer using the method of "hunt and peck," but were running their fingers over the keys with exceptional grace.

Along with typing, students could choose shorthand, sales, business law, accounting, office procedure, and business management.

(A) Home keys are the first things Mrs. Sue Williams teaches her typing class. (B) Mrs. Ann Terhune checks the students as they read their shorthand. (C) Senior Bobby Moore listens as Mrs. Mardell Hattendorf helps him to understand a difficult problem.

Physical capability, as well as mental, were stressed in classes such as P.E., driver's education, and health. Dribbling basketballs, kicking field goals, and hitting homeruns were all a part of physical education. Less strenuous activities included ping-pong and badminton. Even though they produced many wild excuses for not suiting out, students still had to take part in some way.

Driver's education was geared to teach students the how-to's of safe driving. A fee of $80 was required so students could participate in the course.

One semester of health was needed to graduate. Students were exposed to a variety of subjects, such as alcoholism, mental disorders, and cleanliness.

Work Study Classes Teach Trades

Students had a choice of attending regular classes or participating in work-study programs. Others took advantage of vocational training.

The building trades class continued tradition when they erected a new home. Those interested had the opportunity to take cosmetology.

Drafting, auto body, auto mechanics, and electronics/TV also let students explore fields of interest.

DE, HECE, VOE, CVAE, and ICT dealt with various aspects of the business world.

Texans Speak Many Foreign Languages

In the halls of Sam Houston, there were five languages spoken. One, of course, was the native English, and the others were Russian, German, Spanish, and French.

The teachers who taught foreign languages found that there were other sources for students to learn from other than the books. Tapes were used to teach, as well as having classes play games in their second language.

Students took field trips throughout the year. Third year French students went to a movie in the fall and in the spring they took part in competition with French students from other schools. Russian students also competed.

Being a senior is not easy because you are faced with a lot more responsibility . . . People demand more from you . . . Seniors become dependent on themselves . . . I feel more superior, as if we seniors own Sam Houston . . . It's a trip . . . It takes getting used to . . . All the people you always looked up to have graduated . . . Kids now look up to you . . . I get a bunch of advantages . . . It is a great challenge . . . I feel like I am on the top of the world . . . We win the spirit stick . . . We finally get to be the leaders of Sam . . . It is a great feeling to have people look up to you . . . I feel older and more important . . . We are the best, we are the top of the class . . . A feeling that's hard to explain . . . Being a senior is something we all look forward to. When we achieve this position, we find out it was worth the wait.

We discover teachers are not so bad when you work with them and become closer. We see what pride in a school is all about by becoming more involved than we have ever been. We have friends we have grown to love and care about quite a lot.

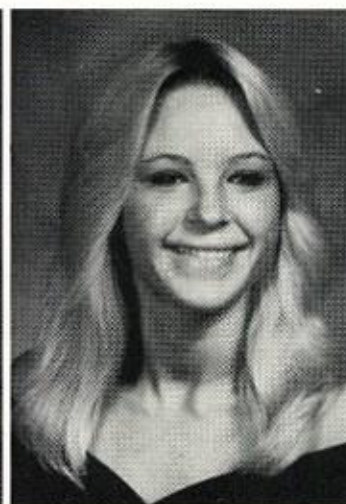

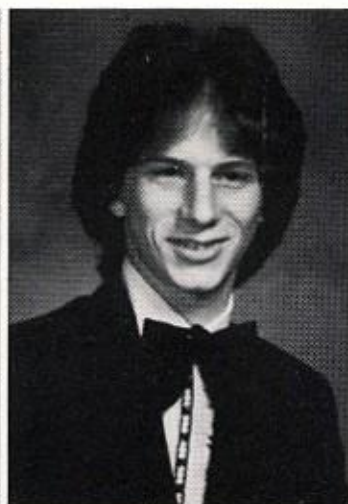

The sad part is that when our senior year is over we lose so much. We lose touch with many of our friends. Some we will never see again, some we will not see as often as we want to, and some we will keep in touch with.

We give up a great deal of our freedom and take on many new responsibilities. High school becomes simply a memory, but what an outstanding memory it is.

Hopefully, all graduates will keep Sam Houston as one of their favorite memories. Let's try to stay in touch with each other, especially those we love. Always remember the alma mater and what it and its people have meant in our lives.

Picking a college is pretty difficult to do. Do you decide on a university because of its location, size, reputation, or amount of tuition? If you've ever visited a college, you know that every college thinks it's the best. "We're the only university in the U.S. that allows you to keep alligators in the dorm," says one, while another claims it's better because teachers permit all students to have a copy of the final exam before it's given.

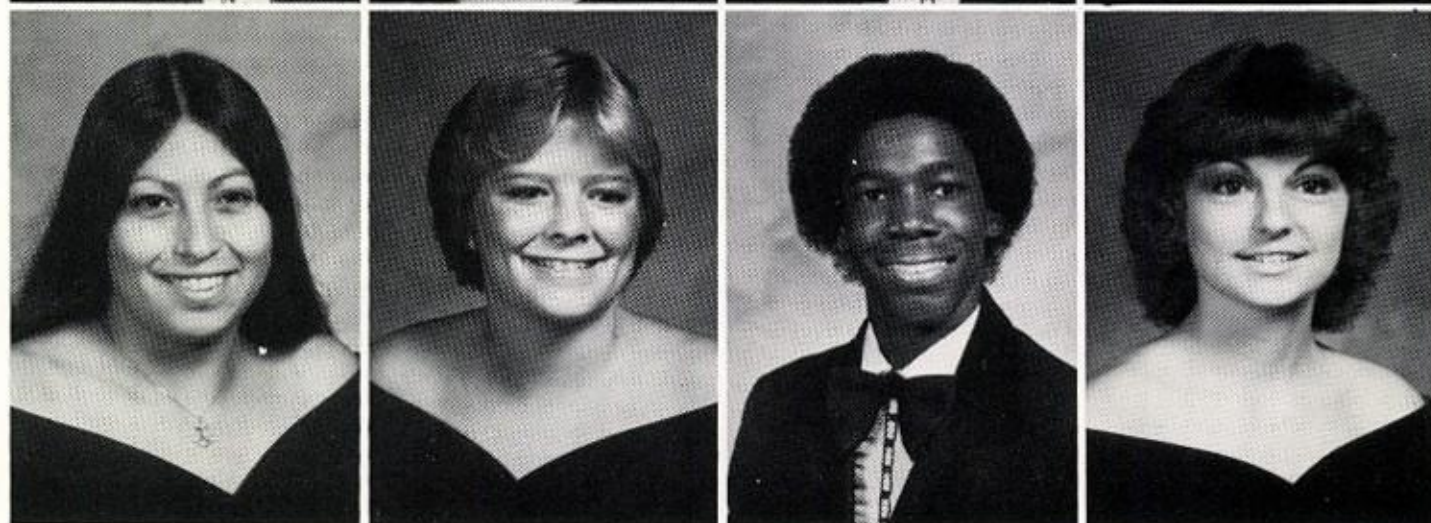

After taking everything into consideration and you finally decide where you want to spend the next four to six years of your life, another question arises. Are you good enough for the college? Are the standards of acceptance within your reach?

If they are, you're in luck. All you have to worry about now is paying your tuition. Oh yes, do you want to live in the dorm or your own apartment? If you're not accepted, well, you get to start all over again.

Leaders Are Determined

Being a leader at Sam Houston takes guts. This has its share of rewards, but it has more than its share of setbacks. The key word in being a leader is determination. It is like accepting the ultimate challenge in life . . . you have to love doing it.

Being a cheerleader is hard work and fun times, too. It's getting up early three times a week and practicing for two hours, both for camp and for the school year. At camp it's cheering and being spirited for 12 to 13 hours a day in the hot August heat.

Cheerleaders get to know each other like sisters. The main thing the girls learn at camp is that they have to make sacrifices and stand up for each other.

When school starts, cheerleading is like a full time job, especially during football season, getting ready for the pep rallies on Friday and trying to keep Big Sam spirit alive.

Monday and Tuesday are the days to do posters. The rest of the week calls for practice on the pep rallies and cheers.

Friday night is when cheerleading is glorious. Without the hours spent, however, these students could not keep that Big Sam spirit rowdy.

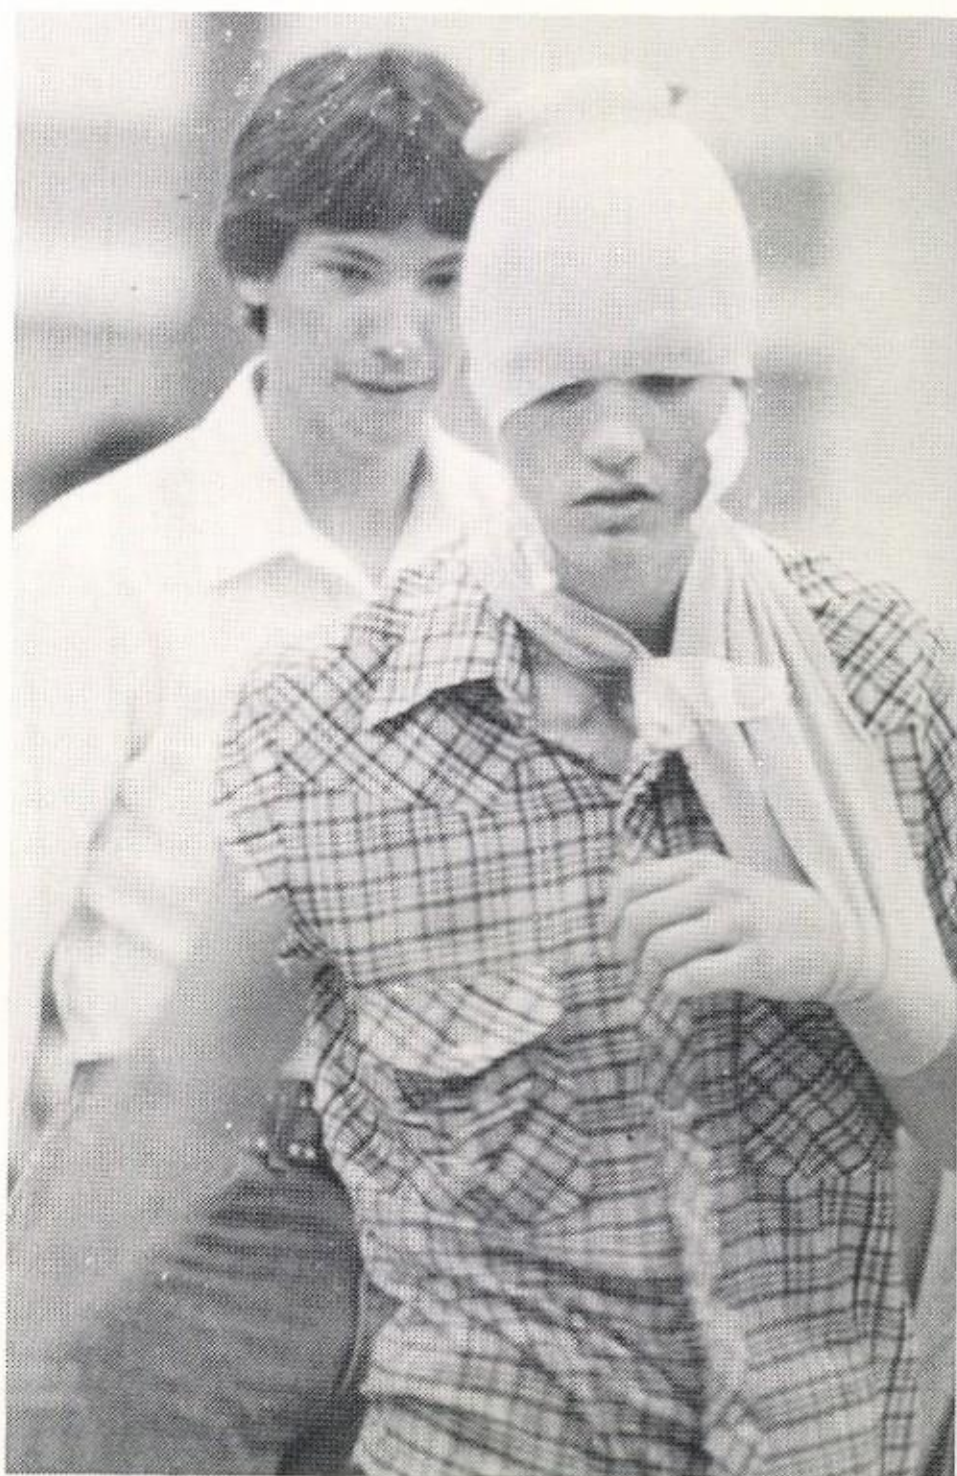

SAT Blues

The SAT — that all important test that everyone must score high on to get into a “good” college or university. I spent many hours dreading “the day.” When it came, I had to drag myself out of bed at 6:30 a.m. on a Saturday so I would not be late.

I went prepared with four sharpened number two pencils to color in the little dots on the answer sheet. At the testing center, I began to think, “Maybe I should have read the sample test.” Panic set in.

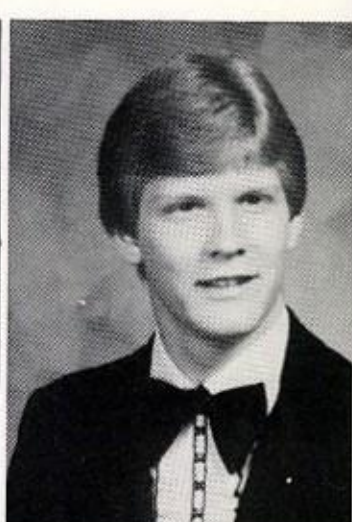

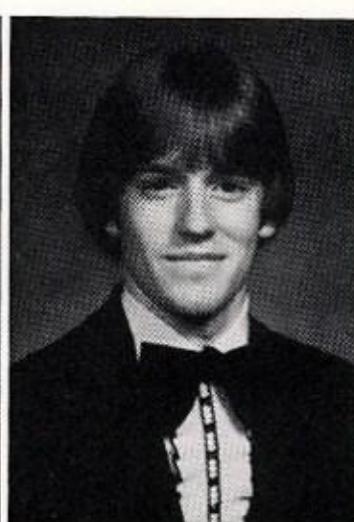

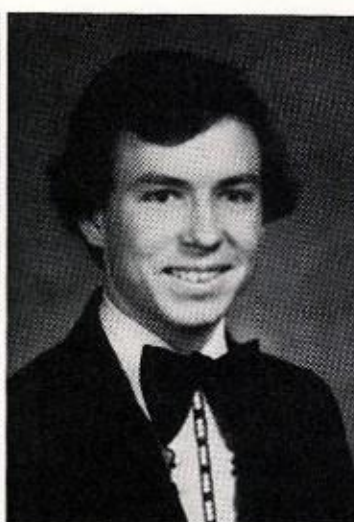

An hour later and two sections completed I was still alive and breathing. This wasn’t so bad. Just because words like cacophonous and nefarious were not in my vocabulary doesn’t mean I can’t define them.

The only permanent damage I suffered concerned the cold I got from the freezing room. That brought a revelation: scoring is slow because answers must thaw out before going through the computer.

Wake Up With Class

You may not think that a 7:30 class is very hard — until you've tried it. It can be a real drag. After staying up late at night, having to get up extra early is virtually impossible.

Cars on the parking lot at this hour belong to Tex-Annes, band members, and singers in First Class.

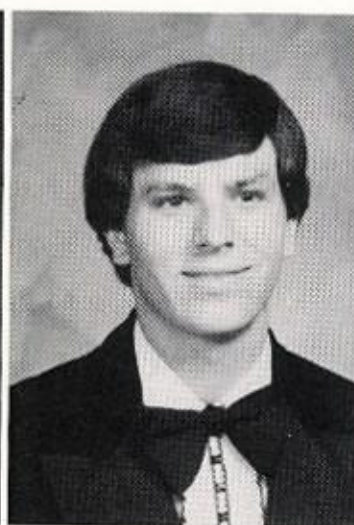

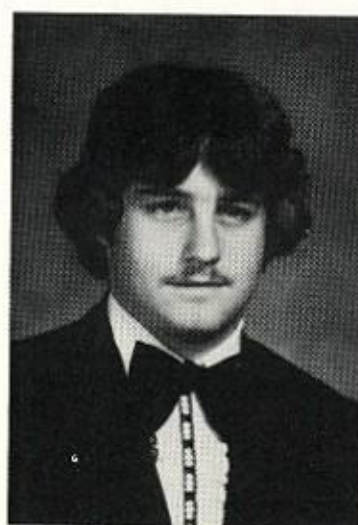

Can you imagine singing so early in the morning? Most throats don't wake up until 9. What about dancing a routine at 7 a.m.? Do band members sleepwalk while marching?

In addition to getting in extra practice, however, there are other advantages. One gets a front row spot on the parking lot and never has to worry about a first period tardy.

Legislature Raises Age to 19

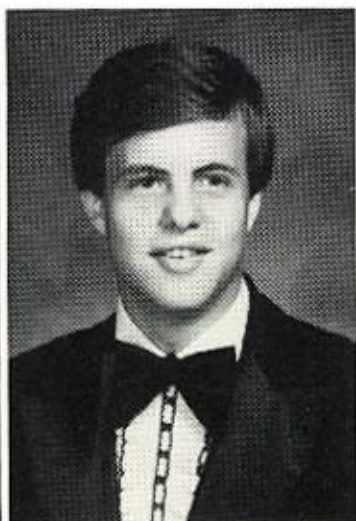

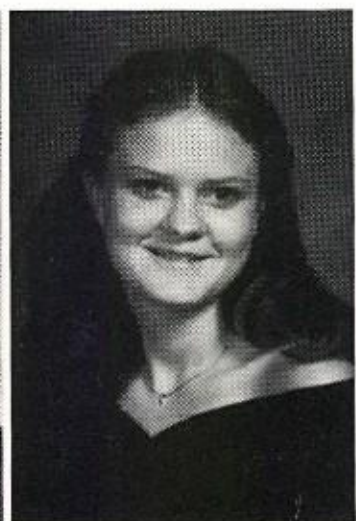

Effective on Sept. 1, the legal drinking age in Texas was raised from age 18 to 19. This affected many of the seniors. Most were unhappy with the change stating they are old enough to vote and register for the draft so they should also be allowed to answer for themselves on the subject of drinking.

The law was passed as an attempt to keep alcohol out of the public high schools. Students agreed with this, but felt this wasn't the main problem in this area. They maintained that students don't drink during school or the school week. Most reserve this activity for the weekend.

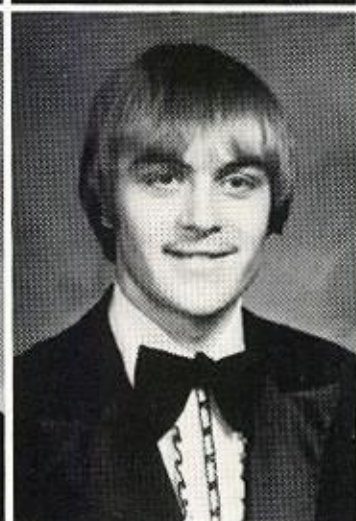

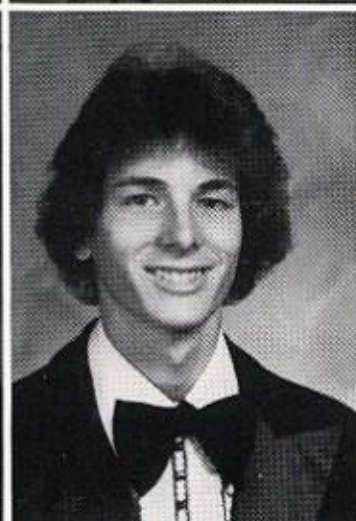

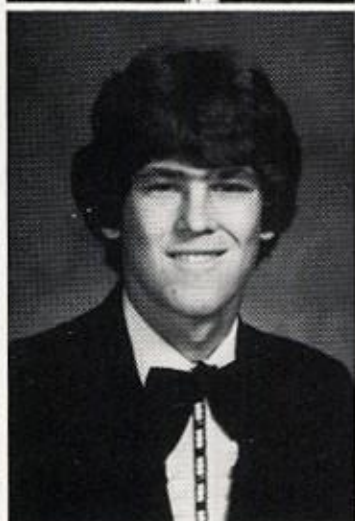

The student body was surveyed about its drinking habits by Student Congress. It was revealed that many still drink illegally.

“Mom, how many graduation announcements do I need to order?”

This was a question asked by the seniors in the fall preparing for that big spring event.

It was fun to actually see parents counting on their fingers, scratching their heads, and looking very disturbed. The thought of all those people, announcements, and the money put out to let everyone know of their child's departure from high school caused some unsettling.

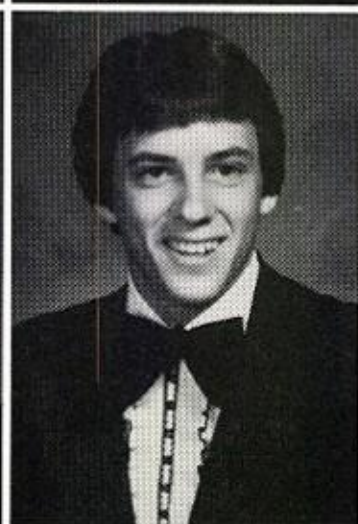

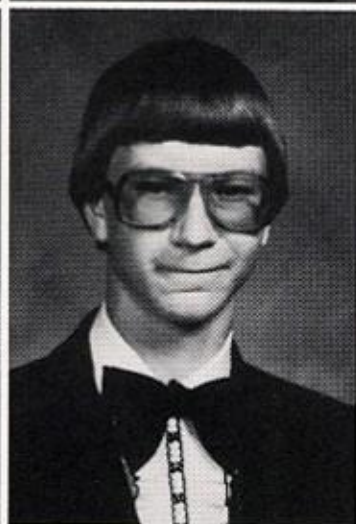

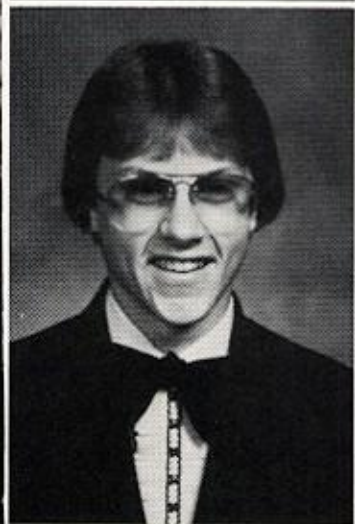

Everything turned out fine in the end, though, as the announcements were ordered without a hitch.

Do teenagers have much money to spend? Yes, says a survey conducted last Fall by Journalism I students.

Based on a 1600 Student Body enrollment, Sam's survey showed that teens here spend about $91,493 per month on dating, lunch, entertainment, school activities, gas, cosmetics and clothes.

On an annual basis, that is $1,097,916 million dollars!

 JUNIOR JUNIOR
 JUNIOR JUNIOR

Being a junior is like an oreo — the best part is in the middle . . . the big thing we looked forward to is knowing we have only one more year . . . this is the time to get serious . . . being a junior is a drag 'cause you got one more year . . . I can't wait until Snow Day . . . being a junior is like being stuck between a rock and a hard place . . . it's a weird thing . . . it's the most important . . . you have to set standards . . . you have to be a good example for the sophomores, plus you have the responsibility to the rest of your high school year . . . it's fun . . . you're in the middle — you're not a baby and you don't have any responsibilities . . . kinda in the middle — you want to beat the seniors but you're not put down by being a sophomore . . . it's terrible . . . no time to do anything . . .

Keep Goin'

In high school, especially here at Sam, students become very involved in activities.

At the beginning of the year, it seems great to join everything. Soon you realize, "I don't have time for all of this." You miss one meeting to go to another; you come to school early and leave late; you miss lunch.

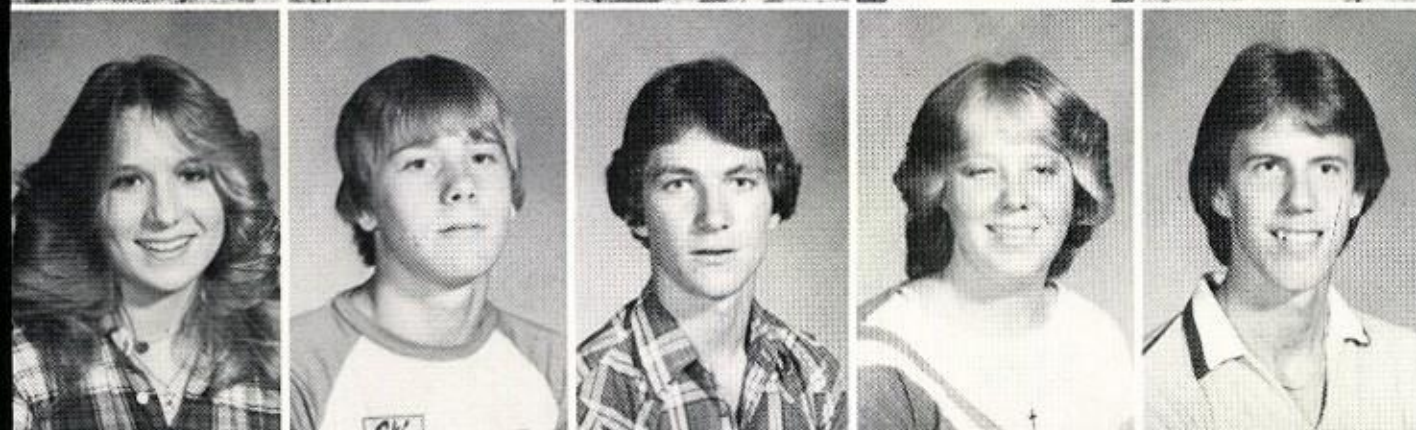

It seems all you do is work hard so school will be fun. Hmmm . . .

Money Goes To Pay For Parking

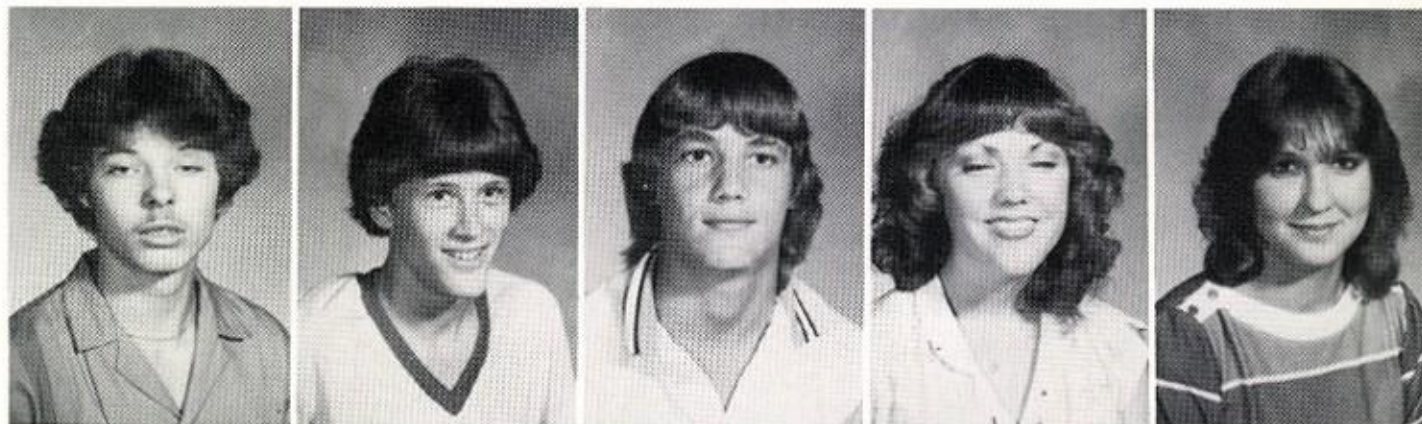

Driving in Sam's parking lot is bad enough, but paying a $15 fee on top of that is a little too much! That is how many students felt when they discovered they would be charged $15 to park in the lots.

Plans were to enclose the lots with chains and erect gates at the entrances. Students were issued a blue sticker as proof of payment.

The decision, made by the School Board, was to help the thousands of dollars needed to maintain good parking conditions.

Presents Make Days Go Better

As the days near the Christmas vacation, one becomes anxious for each day to pass. The days seem longer and the assignments harder. A pixie or secret pal helps the days go by faster. Whether it's student to student or student to teacher, the giving and receiving of gifts helps to brighten everyone's day.

Deciding what to get your person is taken seriously. After all, it's a lot more important to find the perfect gift than it is to study for that English test . . .

Getting Up So Soon

The worst way to start a day is by getting up in the morning. It always seems that those little mechanical boxes that buzz go off at the wrong time, such as 6:30. Reluctantly throwing back the covers, rolling out of bed and making the way to the bathroom with closed eyes was a usual routine.

After a hot shower, the day didn't seem quite so dim, so we trudged on to face the day. Of course, there were blow dryers going, curling irons plugged in, and leftover homework to do . . .

I'm Calling My Friend

What is a Best Friend? A Best Friend is a person to share your happy moments with or to make you happy when you are down. It is a person you see all day at school but still go home and talk to on the phone all night. Best Friends are always there to help if help is needed, like a fight with your boyfriend that really upsets you, or when you lose that last big game.

Best Friends are also there to share all those secrets with that no one else is supposed to know, to share the victory of the game against Arlington High, or to just sit around and talk with when no one else will listen.

A Best Friend is a treasure.

Being New

The first day in a new school is always scary and going as a junior is the worst. Seniors seem so confident, and sophomores, although they are new, know classmates and some older juniors and seniors.

Wandering around the school alone is no fun. How does one make the first friend? Strangers feel like a fool asking someone where a class is when it might be right in front of them. It helps if a club is interesting or an extracurricular activity is handy.

At Sam it doesn't take long to make friends. Talk about the class! Be friendly! Man, this year will go by fast!

Just as one gets adjusted, he often faces another move . . .

Junior Theme Brings about Anguish

About halfway through the year most juniors suddenly came down with a very strange disease. The symptoms of this illness included a queasy stomach and blurry vision at the mere thought of an English class. The cause of this illness was THE THEME.

The absolute worst part of the paper was having to mutter and grumble about how awful the assignment was. Copying quotes onto note cards and making sure to put the book's title, author, and page number was always a very hectic job.

After this process was completed, the student had to go through the trouble of arranging the cards in order and writing them to fit together on their paper. A couple more extremely difficult jobs that go along with the assignment were the cover sheet and bibliography.

The reason the junior theme was so draining to so many students was because the teachers only gave them three or four weeks to complete it and they only spent one week in the library researching. Most students were given just two more weeks to write their paper in class. For these reasons, THE THEME has almost enough evidence to be declared unconstitutional.

Part-time Workers Do Balancing Act

Trying to get dressed, eat, and do homework all at once takes talent, but that's what happens when a student tries to work and go to school. Get up at 6:30, get ready for school, and study — that's the morning routine.

The first bell rings. Hurry! The first four classes are waking up period. Skip lunch and do some more homework. Sixth and seventh go by in a flash.

Rush home while listening to those hunger pains. Do some more homework while supper is on the stove.

All of a sudden it is 4:45 and time to go to work. Put on a smile and friendly disposition for about five hours. It's not so hard, or is it?

Home and sleep look so nice at 11 at night, but more homework is to be done. Oh no! The house is a mess! Sink into bed in the wee hours of the morning, and it seems as if the eyes close at the same time the alarm goes off. Here we go again!

When I was a sophomore I loved it. Howdy Day was a lot of fun to me. I loved the suspension of its coming and the freedom the day gave . . . I don't like being a sophomore; it makes me feel insignificant . . . sophs don't know anything about anything, you're always having to ask juniors and seniors about everything . . . I loved being a sophomore; we learned about spirit and had a lot of fun. We also learned what high school was all about. I learned that school could be hard, too . . . being a sophomore was great. We met lots of new people and made some great new friends . . . I love being a sophomore because the younger I am the more I continue to learn. I especially like Big Sam High School . . . I like being a sophomore because I get a chance to see older women all day long . . . I like being a sophomore because of all the freedom I get that I didn't get at my old school . . . Being a soph is like starting over again . . . Put it this way, it will be a year to remember especially Howdy Day . . . I love being a sophomore. Sometimes it's bad, sometimes it's good. Howdy Day was fun, I loved every minute of it. I thought it was going to be bad but it wasn't. We're the best say no more, Senior Class of '84 . . . Being a sophomore is boring. There is nothing to do besides homework. My firends became "far away" friends. We are not as close as we used to be. At certain times I have a great time. Going to lunch and to sports activities. It's got its ups and downs . . . I am proud to be a sophomore . . . Being a sophomore was really great. I loved every minute of it. I really enjoyed meeting lots of new people. They were all super friendly too. My teachers were nice, but a little bit too hard. All in all, being a sophomore was great!!!

Taking a foreign language can be a strange experience. The first day is the worst. When you walk into the class, the teacher starts babbling faster than you've ever heard anything go before. Christmas Shopping Enhances Spirit

Christmas is a holiday that comes only once a year, but the preparations for it usually begin a month or two before. One of these many preparations is Christmas shopping. It takes a lot of time, the stores are always too crowded and you spend a lot of money. But, in spite of the hassle, it's well worth the effort.

The scenes of Christmas shopping are somewhat traditional. The older brother is embarrassed to walk into a toy store and buy that stuffed animal for his little sister. Then he waits in a long line to get the present wrapped free and finds out the box costs $2.50

You look everywhere for the special gift for your mother. You spot it in the window across the way. When you try to buy it, you find out it has already been sold and the display is not for sale.

How about testing the cologne you want to buy for your brother and spilling it all over you?

Have you ever shopped for large families? You walk into a store and find the one sweater that fits all, then buy eight of them.

What should we get dear old Dad? That's right a tie again this year.

Christmas shopping is just a way to prolong the happy event. It makes the one Christmas day last a whole lot longer.

Reunions Promote Reminiscing

A family reunion is always an interesting experience. There you will find closest relatives, but there will always be a few who you could never recognize. These relatives will invariably come to you, pinch your cheeks, and say, "My, but how you have grown!"

After the greetings and gossiping have gotten into full swing, the favorite part begins. The food is placed on all the tables, and the hard decision making process begins. Spending a day with your family is a "filling" experience.

Athletics, Worth It?

Playing any sport takes hours of training. The long hours, sore muscles, and running those many miles are the worst parts of it. Unfortunately, one must have training if he or she wishes to become better.

What athletes can forget the time the coach yelled at them for messing up in the workout or the days one doesn't feel like practicing but does because of dedication.

Given the choice, athletes would gladly give up training, but when they have prepared themselves there is nothing to compare with the excitement of hearing the game's starting whistle blow.

Costumes Provoke Attention

As one walked down the hall, he saw many strange creatures. Even though everyone else was dressed for Halloween, coming as a cat was different. It seemed all eyes were on him.

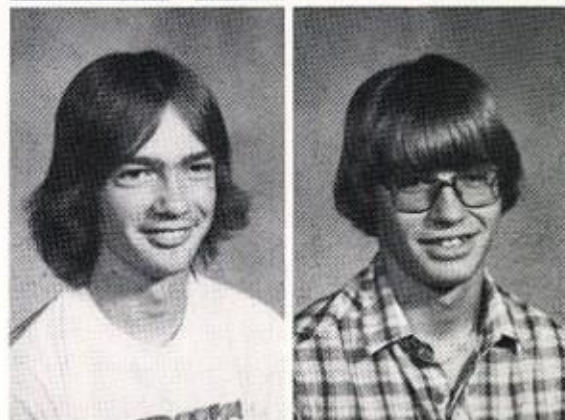

People he didn't even know came up to him to comment on his outfit. At first he was self-conscious but soon, after seeing everyone else, it all became fun.

Guessing who the monsters, clowns, and animals were was exciting. Halloween dress up day was weird.

Practice Makes Perfect

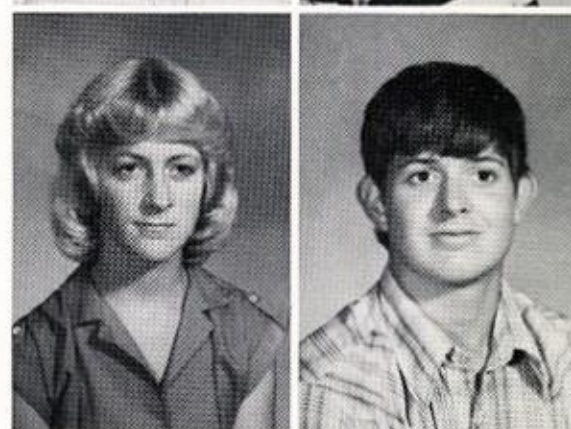

Typing can be a real pain. It's a necessary skill to learn, but it can be very boring. At first you have to memorize where each letter is. After you get the hang of it, it goes much faster.

Then, while reading a book at your desk, you realize how slow it is going. Look at the hands. No wonder, you are typing out each word. This is crazy!

What Can I Wear to Impress Him?

It's 7:30. It's Monday. I chipped a nail, and I don't have anything to wear!" laments a typical Texan coed. I did so want to make a good impression on that new guy in French class. He's definitely on an la, la!

Today demands the preppie look. I'll either wear my new Calvins, Izod shirt with the darling little alligator with matching socks and belt and my Bass deck shoes or knickers and argyle socks, penny loafers and monogrammed sweater. That should make him "cherchez la femme."

However, since he's on the track team, maybe I should wear my Addidas jogging suit and Nikes.

Or, on the other hand, what about being "down home" in Levis, ostrich boots, a flannel shirt, lambswool vest, and my personalized cowhide belt, so that there will be no doubt as to the little filly who thinks he's sensational.

Or maybe being really casual is the thing. I could wear the Texas Till I Die, French Club, Sam Houston the Place to Be, or that cute new shirt with the embroidered Texan.

"Quel dommage!" It's 7:45, and I still don't have anything to wear!"

First Day Causes Panic

Remember your first day at Big Sam? You brushed your hair until it almost fell out and your stomach already had.

You grabbed your schedule and off you went. Once you walked through the door you were lost.

There they were, your old group from junior high. You get carried away with talking and couldn't believe you heard the bell. Oh relief! Some big shot senior told you it was only the first bell. Great!!

Babysitting Takes Nerve

My friends often tell me the problems they encounter on their "real jobs." I'm here to say that babysitting is a "real job." It's possible that it has more responsibility than cooking at McDonald's or checking groceries at Minyard's.

You have to really know what to believe when you're babysitting. "But my parents always let me drink five glasses of chocolate milk before bedtime." "I help my sister with her bath, every night," or "She likes it when I hold her head underwater for 10 minutes," are typical comments told to a babysitter. For some reason kids think a sitter is retarded. They think it's time for some real fun when the babysitter comes. This fun can include anything from throwing water balloons at passing cars or having a pillow fight with a ripped pillow.

Bedtime is usually the most difficult time of all. Most kids can think of a million and one things they would rather do besides sleep. All of these activities are noisy, tiring, and strenuous, and usually make a victim of the babysitter. Sometimes the kids are so bad you swear you'll never be caught dead babysitting again. However, everything is forgiven when the little kid whispers softly in your ear, "I love you," when you finally get him in bed.

Hard Work Pays Off

High school bandmen look back at their musical beginnings with humor. To seventh graders, the class is totally unlike any other. No one seems to know what the squiggly lines and dots are. The teacher says they are notes and to read them like a sentence to make musical sounds. Whatever she says, you think.

In the eighth grade, the music is beginning to sound good, and it is much easier to play.

By the ninth grade, tryouts for Big Sam's marching band are just around the corner. Those tryouts are great motivation for a junior high kid to work hard.

Now band camp is here, a week of playing and marching. The band has to have the first halftime show ready by Friday, a week before the game.

Soon it is halftime of the Arlington game, Sam's arch rival. The band goes through the usual routine and then forms the big No. 1.

The crowd is deafening. What an exhilarating feeling! All of that work paid off.

There's a new vitality at Metroplex National.
New faces, new direction, new services and big plans for the future.
We still offer the comfortable and personal service of a small bank.
But we've strengthened our services to rival the best of the big banks.
So, if you've not been by lately, then pay us a visit. We think you'll like the changes we've made.
We may be small, but we've got big ideas.

You've got a bright future. We'll do our part to help keep it that way.

Your generation will need as much electricity as is being used these days. Maybe more. We at Texas Electric are working to provide you with the electricity you'll need for college, your homes and your jobs.

In the past, we've used mostly natural gas and oil to make electricity. Today, we're making as much electricity as possible in plants built to use lignite coal. And, we're building a plant to make electricity using uranium fuel. By using these cheaper and more abundant fuels, we'll help keep your future looking bright.

How Do You Reach These Teenagers?

That's a good question, especially if you are an advertiser with products or services to sell to young people. Advertising your particular goods may be difficult, but it is not impossible.

In recent market survey of the Sam Houston Student Body, researchers discovered that teenagers spend thousands of dollars each month on dating, lunch, entertainment, movies, records, cosmetics and clothes. Sam students alone spend more than $91,000 on a monthly basis. That means more than $1 million dollars each year!

The media which can best project your message to these teenagers are Texans Talk and the Cherokee, award winning publications on the local and national levels. The bi-weekly newspaper, Texans Talk, has a format with pages devoted to sports, amusements, features, and editorials, as well as news. The yearbook, Cherokee, is a top quality memory book which has more lasting power than any other high school memento.

Students at Sam Houston read Texans Talk and the Cherokee because they stay up-to-date on happenings of interest to them. Your advertisement can reach all of these teenagers. Just dial 460-4305 and let a staff member discuss AD-vantages and rates with you.

In Memoriam

In Memoriam

Mrs. Becky Ellis . . . Remembered, Loved

Courage means something different to everyone. Story books and theatrical plays both display characters facing controversy and triumphing over evil. In real life, heroes are harder to define, but they exist — often among people we know well. When one person fights a battle, knowing she has no chance of winning, that person is courageous.

Mrs. Dorothy (Becky) Ellis was just that type of person. Mrs. Ellis lost her two year battle against cancer on Oct. 11, but unlike some people faced with dire circumstances she never gave in. She once said, "You have to hang in there and keep going . . . fight like a tiger."

She did fight, from the time she was told she had abdominal cancer in the Spring of '79 up until October of '81. Even as the disease spread, she continued to teach, never wanting to give up. At times she would be confined to a hospital for three or four weeks, but she'd always come back with a smile on her face ready to teach her students. "She loved her job," commented Mrs. Betty Brown, office education sponsor. "She was an inspiration to us all."

Mrs. Ellis started teaching at Sam as a student teacher for Mrs. Sue Williams. Then in the Spring of 1969, she began as a full time business instructor. "She truly loved her students and her job," commented Mrs. Williams.

Last spring, after teaching for 12 years, she was awarded the Sam Teacher of the Year Award presented annually by the faculty.

Mrs. Ellis, even after we have all graduated and left Sam Houston, we will always remember you. Your example of love, courage, and caring will be one that we will hope to achieve. Thank you for being a shining light that brightened even the darkest day. May the Lord bless and keep you, Mrs. Becky Ellis.

Amfac Setting for Special Night

Preparations for the night of May 15 were started early since many things had to be done. Girls were busy going from shop to shop trying to find that perfect dress, and guys had to be fitted for tuxedos. Area florists were kept busy with the many corsages and boutonnieres ordered for that special night, the senior prom.

The tickets per couple were $30, and the Amfac Hotel's East Tower at Dallas-Fort Worth Airport was the setting for the extravagant affair. Dinner was served at 7:30. The main dish was prime rib followed with cheese cake for dessert. The dance started at 9 p.m. with the music supplied by the Party Machine. Music played ranged from Punk to the Cotton-Eyed Joe.

“Lasting Qualities of Life” was the topic discussed by Mr. Casey Perry of Hillcrest Park Baptist Church at Baccalaureate Services on May 23. Senior Class officers conducted the activity which was held at Texas Hall.

Six tickets were received by each of the 439 graduating seniors to allow family members and friends to attend the commencement ceremony which began at 8 p.m. on May 26.

Students contributed a roll of nickels to Principal B. H. Remyse as they walked across the stage to receive their diploma.

Now that this yearbook is finally finished, I can reflect on my years at Sam and my work on the Cherokee. Eating is the first activity that comes to mind. To open the year, the staff took an educational trip to Taylor Publishing Company, but we also earned an award on the side for eating more than any other group. Any time there were major decisions to be made, dinner was arranged to talk over the choices. Almost the entire Cherokee Assembly was planned over an Italian dinner.

Even though eating consumed a great deal of our time, this brilliant production is proof of our patience and hard work. Sometimes there was nothing to do, then other days everything had to be done at once. When deadlines rolled around, too much was happening. Quad-paks were pushed under my nose from every direction to be checked, and I seemed to be reading the same pages over and over.

We pulled together in a crisis, such as the time when John Criswell canceled out as the speaker for the Quill and Scroll Banquet the day before. Channel 8's Chris Thomas filled in for Mr. Criswell and we were saved once again.

Once several of us took a trip to the airport just to walk around and eye the civilization there. We also stopped to eat, but that's beside the point. Being editor also gave me some strange jobs, including sitting in Mr. Remyse's office for a little publicity. — Sandra Wiggins

At Last . . . Gowns Arrive!

(A) Graduation creates many pleasant memories for senior Shelly Owens. (B) and (C) AISD workmen construct posts and gates to enclose the parking lots next year. (D) Sophomore Allen Baines avoids cameramen by hiding behind the prize for the French Club Texan Day jollybean quest. (E) Senior Mindy Sperry is fitted for her class ring. Dear Sam Texans, Journalism created wonderful memories for me and for each of the other staffers. I'll never forget some of the happenings, like passing fingernail polish of many wild colors around the room for each of us to try. The people were also very special to me. They were all dependable, and we seemed to be just one big happy family. The journalism room was like our home. We were comfortable there and felt welcome anytime.

Although we worked very well together, we couldn't have done everything alone. We would like to extend our deep appreciation to those people who helped us:

Mrs. Bernadette Hanz, Sam PTSA, and City Council PTA for their help in bulk mailing; Shelly Owens, Angela Wooldridge, Kristen Hackenberg, Carol Click, Stacy Pilgrim, Rhonda Scott, Tammy Moyer, Ms. Patti Fowler, Paula Brennan, Dan Cowan, Ricky Brown, Tracey Parker, Missy Warner, Angela Mentlik, Billy McElroy, Sandra Wiggins, Randy Townley, Melinda Lamm, Vanessa Vorhes, Misty Atkins, Darlene Weber for contributing copy to the classes section; Mr. Don Blankenship, Eddie Smith, Todd Douthit, John Bolding, Tony Santos, and Warren Burns for their assistance with the Cherokee Assembly, and Mr. Stephen Howell and the Photography Department for contributing to the Cherokee photos.

Also, our thanks go to Mrs. Barbara Thomas of the Art Department, especially Steven Gallardo who designed the Cherokee cover, for lending an artistic hand; Mrs. Betty Whitaker, Randy Townley, and Larry Walraven for being on hand when we needed them; Mrs. Alma Wiggins and Mrs. Patsy Lamm for flowers and veils so we could properly "marry" couples at the Texan Carnival; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Atkins for lending their lovely home for the Pixie Party; Mr. B. H. Remynse, faculty, and staff for their continuing support.

Enjoy your '82 Cherokee!
